Ashville, Walnut Advance To Finals

Broncos Down Pirates; Tigers Stop Buffaloes

Final, Consolation Games Scheduled For Friday Night

BY PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Sports Editor

Ashville will meet Walnut Friday night for the coveted Pickaway County Basketball tournament crown after the Broncos downed Pickaway, 76 to 69, and Walnut upset favored Scioto, 80 to 60, in semi-final play at the fairgrounds coliseum last night.

Although the Broncos recorded their third tourney victory and a spot in the finals, all was not easy, especially in the fourth quarter when the Pirates fashioned a surge that brought them to within five points of knotting the score. However, the Ashville cagers stemmed Pickaway's uprising in the final stages of the contest to walk off with a big victory.

The biggest surprise of the evening was Walnut's lop-sided decision over the vaunted Buffaloes of Scioto. Remaining in tournament play after being defeated by Darby, which was later declared ineligible, Coach Tom Bryant's Tigers displayed a determined and fired-up brand of ball in registering a startling upset.

Friday night will tell the tale for the 1957 tourney when the traditional rival Broncos and Tigers lock horns for championship honors. Another real test is in store the same evening when Scioto meets Pickaway for consolation award and third place in tournament standings.

* * *

THE FIRST three place teams will represent Pickaway County in the district tournament.

Coach Russ Gregg's determined Bronco squad gained a berth in the finals of the tournament by virtue of a big second quarter when they outscored Pickaway by 15 points.

Trailing 18 points at halftime, the Pirates made a real effort to catch the high-flying Broncos, reducing this lead to 12 markers by the end of the third period.

Mid-way in the exciting fourth stanza, the Pirates came within five points of knotting the score but ran out of steam as the Broncos, remaining steady in the clutch, pulled away to a comfortable lead as time ran out.

The road improvement projects include:

The Ohio department also announced it plans to have preliminary surveys made for other proposed projects. Scheduled to come under study are:

The Columbus West Freeway in Franklin and Madison counties.

U. S. 30N, on a section of the Mansfield bypass.

U. S. 25 in Lucas County, north from Cygnet Road to the Perrysburg-Maumee bypass, including a consideration of a Bowling Green bypass.

The department decided to go ahead with two other projects discussed at public hearings. One for relocating about one half mile of Ohio 66 at Delphos in Van Wert County and the other for relocating 2.91 miles of U. S. 50 in Vinton County.

House Trims $80.3 Million From Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—House advocates of a cut in federal spending boasted a modest and hard-won initial victory today, but already there was talk that the Senate will restore some of the money.

The House, sustaining its Appropriations Committee, cut $80.3 million or about 2 per cent from President Eisenhower's requests in passing Wednesday a $3.8 billion money bill to finance the Treasury and Postoffice departments for the year starting July 1.

The bill is the first of 13 annual money measures under which Eisenhower has asked for more than $73 billion of new appropriations. Some House members are seeking to cut at least $5 billion.

The House passed the bill by voice vote. It allots $691 million to the Treasury Department, $3.1 billion to the Postoffice Department and $1.4 million to the Tax Court.

Cuts included $58 million from Postoffice requests and $22 million from the Treasury.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), a member of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee which will handle the bill, told a reporter, "I believe we will be willing to restore some of the Postoffice Department funds if they make a good case."

Hearings begin Wednesday.

After two days of debate the House defeated 177-124 an amendment to give the Postoffice Department an extra $29 million.

Egypt Seen Cool On New Suez Plan

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt apparently has turned thumbs down on the plans of Britain, the United States and Norway for temporary operation of the Suez Canal.

The plan, submitted to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold Tuesday, is reported to call for a 50-50 sharing of canal tolls by Egypt and the World Bank, and operation of the canal under the 1888 Constantinople Convention which guaranteed freedom to shipping to all nations. The authoritative newspaper, Al Gumhuria, made plain Egypt's position: That there is no Suez problem, hence no need for any plans for a solution.

Meany Explains Job Assignments

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL - CIO president George Meany says the assignment of former AFL officers to most top jobs in the AFL-CIO national organization was not intended as a precedent for lower-level labor mergers.

Meany sent out letters to state and local union groups in an effort to iron out rival claims among many AFL and CIO leaders for top jobs when their organizations merge. The controversies have been stalling merger actions.

AFL and CIO state and local groups have until next December to complete their mergers.

Antarctic Crew Given Farewell

18 Yanks At Pole Expect -120 Cold

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — Operation Deep Freeze II ended today with a farewell flight to the South Pole.

Part 1 of Operation Deep Freeze, which ended last January, included the establishment of main bases at McMurdo and Little America V and exploration for other scientific stations. It was described as the "biggest base building and aerial exploratory mission ever mounted in a single antarctic expedition."

Operation Deep Freeze II saw the work fan out to set up and supply other bases.

* * *

OPERATION Deep Freeze III, expected to start next October, will bring in supplies and fresh personnel to replace the men who will serve at the stations through the antarctic winter.

The operations are being carried out as part of the United States' role in the International Geophysical Year program.

Darkness soon will cloak the continent. Temperatures will sink far below zero. Shrieking winds and stinging snow will lash the lonely outposts.

At the South Pole, antarctic explorer Paul Siple and 17 other men will attempt to be the first to survive a winter there.

Winship Story Named Blood Drive Chairman

Local Man Has Wide Experience In Red Cross Programs

Winship W. Story will serve as Pickaway County blood program chairman for the first half of 1957. The announcement was made today by the county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Area residents will have opportunity to donate blood next Monday when the Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Circleville Methodist church from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Story, who has been a resident of Pickaway County since 1953, served as blood program industrial chairman early in 1956 and as vice chairman for the latter half of 1956. His prior work with Red Cross blood programs goes back to 1940 when he assisted in obtaining blood donors in Cambridge, Mass.

During the Korean Conflict he was blood program chairman of the university area of Buffalo, N. Y. In 17 years, Story has given over three gallons of blood.

* * *

BORN IN Wilkinsburg, Pa., in 1910, Story is a mechanical engineer, graduating from Tufts University, Medford, Mass. in 1933. During his collegiate years he was intercollegiate wrestling champion in his weight class.

He wrestled professionally as the "White Phantom" in the Boston area for a few years following his graduation from Tufts.

Story is married and his wife is known to many in Pickaway County through her work as a substitute teacher. He has one son, Winship, Jr., who is a senior in Circleville High School.

Story is employed by the Du Pont Company and has served as safety and fire protection supervisor since 1954. He has served in various engineering capacities since joining the DuPont Company in 1945.

Prior to coming to Pickaway County he was a research engineer at Buffalo, New York.

51 Fillies Taking Pie Test On Range

The girls were entered in the 25th annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest.

Each of the entries was listed as the champion of her home area, the 48 states, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Contestants range in age from 14 to 20. Each bakes two pies, and then picks the one to be judged.

Ike Claims U. N. Must 'Pressure' Balky Israelis

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Nations action to impose some form of sanctions on Israel appeared almost certain today after President Eisenhower declared the U. N. must "exert pressure" to get Israeli troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israel's only hope of averting a sanctions vote apparently lies in agreeing to withdraw its forces without the guarantees it has been demanding against a subsequent attack by Egypt.

Arab countries, working through the U.N.'s Asian-African group, have urged sanctions. The matter now is expected to come up in the U. N. Friday.

Eisenhower set forth the United States policy in a radio-television broadcast to the nation Wednesday night.

He called this a "fateful moment" for the U. N. and its influence in world affairs, declaring that "the future of the United Nations and peace in the Middle East may be at stake."

After recounting a long series of efforts to get Israel to agree to withdraw its forces, Eisenhower made this assertion:

* * *

"THE UNITED Nations must not fail. I believe that, in the interests of peace, the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply with the withdrawal resolutions."

But he added:

"Of course, we still hope that the government of Israel will see that its best immediate and long-term interests lie in compliance with the United Nations and in placing its trust in the resolutions of the United Nations and in the declaration of the United States with reference to the future."

Congressional reaction to Eisenhower's speech varied.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas expressed "regret that the administration still feels that there is no choice but to bring pressure on one side in a two-sided dispute.

"I agree that Israel should withdraw but I also feel that the withdrawal should be accompanied by adequate U.N. action that will not leave Israel defenseless."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) commented that "as far as it went, it was a good speech." But he said it did not point out the future course of this government.

What Eisenhower said about exerting pressure carried the United States position beyond any point previously made by him or Secretary of State Dulles. Both have said in general terms that the United States must support the United Nations, but neither indicated what action the United Nations should take.

Officials here have recognized all along that this was the critical question. If the United States opposed sanctions the pressure from Arab countries in the U.N. to penalize Israel would probably be frustrated. If the United States supported sanctions, a resolution calling for such action probably would be voted.

Dock Strike Ended, But Work Is Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—The eight-day East Coast dock strike officially ended Wednesday night, but how many of the 45,000 longshoremen go back to work today still was in doubt.

In Baltimore and Hampton Roads, Va., Wednesday night, union bosses said local issues have not been settled and the men would not return to their jobs.

Baltimore ILA chief August Idzik said the Baltimore employers, in agreeing to a master contract applying from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, rescinded some of the local provisions they previously had OKd.

At Hampton Roads, ILA local leader David Alston said the men "will not go to work. We have some local conditions that we have to talk about . . ."

Longshoremen in New York were scheduled to vote today on ratification of the new agreement. None of the votes will be counted until all of the North Atlantic ports have voted.

Meanwhile, settlement was announced early today of the three-week-old tugboat strike in New York Harbor. The crewmen vote Friday on ratification.

The six-year contract provides for an 11 per cent wage increase over the first two years with reopenings every two years, federal mediators disclosed. Wages had been $1.76 to $2.80 an hour.

Rockefeller Grants Total $8.1 Million

Dean Rusk, foundation president said Wednesday the refugee grants provides largely for them to study in Austria.

Other grants for the quarter included: $1,064,709 for medical education and public health; $1,147,260 for biological and medical research; $2,568,195 for agriculture; $703,375 for social sciences; and $1,051,310 for humanities.

Licensing Of Cats Seen Boon To Rats

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. (AP)—This community is wondering about the old saying, "When the cat is away, the mice will play."

Several weeks ago, city council passed an ordinance licensing cats. Cats without tags were taken to a cat pound.

Now the council is told rats are overrunning the community.

Mrs. Lillian Petronio, appeared before the lawmakers Wednesday night, and said:

"The old fashioned alley cats will be eliminated because of the ordinance and the rats will survive."

Top Senior In Ohio Eyes Nuclear Job

COLUMBUS (AP)—David Stewart Wiley of Troy High School, who wants to become a nuclear engineer, placed first among boys who took the genral scholarship test for high school seniors, with a score of 254.

Highest mark posted by a girl was the 239 received by Judie Jacobs of Brush High School, South Euclid. She listed "something scientific" for her profession.

The 27th annual senior scholarship test was taken by 16,759 of Ohio's top seniors. R. M. Eyman, superintendent of public instruction, said:

"The results of this test are recognized by colleges and universities throughout the nation as one of the most reliable measures of academic success in institutions of higher learning."

Emmett Brown Keeler of Fairborn High School, George Carroll Nieman of Tipp City High School and James Walter Spindler of Middletown High School tied for second place among the boys with 249. Anita Kay Stoll of Piketon High School was second ranking girl with 238. Sally Marie Combs of Van Wert was third with 236.

Science, engineering and medicine appear to be the most popular professions selected by the boys, while girls favored teaching, medicine and journalism.

The tests were given Jan. 17-19.

Utility Bond Deal Given Approval

COLUMBUS (AP) —The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today authorized the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. to issue $16 million in 30-year first mortgage bonds.

Bond revenues will be used to pay off, in part, old bank loans and to continue the company's construction program.

Reports Say New Proposal To Be Offered

Tiny Holy Land Nation Faces Punishment By Action Of World Body

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A faint hope flickered today that Israel, under continuing demands to withdraw its troops from Egyptian territory, may be on the verge of making a new concession.

Faced with the prospect of punishment from the United Nations, the tiny Holy Land country is the center of a tinderbox dispute in the tense Middle East.

Informed sources said this afternoon that Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, just arrived in his homeland from the United States, had been instructed to return to Washington immediately with new proposals for solving the Middle East deadlock.

Eban was told to leave tonight or early Friday, informants said.

Premier Ben-Gurion is reported to be sending a personal cable to President Eisenhower outlining Israel's hopes for further negotiations.

The reports said the cable will stress that these negotiations should aim at withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Aqaba areas while safeguarding Israeli security and freedom of shipping.

* * *

In Jerusalem, Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States, was met at the airport this morning by a group of 40 right-wing demonstrators who urged him to stand fast against American and U. N. pressure for Israel to withdraw.

Another banner read: "Who submits today will submit tomorrow. Who stands fast today will stand fast tomorrow."

THE GOVERNMENT has refused to quit the Gaza Strip and Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast without firm guarantees against renewal of Egyptian attacks.

The independent Tel Aviv Mariv, an afternoon paper which in many cases reflects general popular feeling, said in an editorial:

"There seemed to be some hope for a compromise solution. But this hope no longer exists after the Eisenhower address. Eisenhower demands our unconditional surrender. To this there can be one answer only: No."

Meanwhile, the U. N. General Assembly held up its showdown Middle East debate until Friday afternoon to await results of re-

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"YUL BRYNNER WITH ELVIS PRESLEY HAIRCUT"

This Droodle, contributed by Walter Sykes of Bethesda, Md., points out the unfortunate fact that the success of a man today can depend entirely on the amount of hair he has or hasn't got. Most men are in-betweens. They aren't bald enough to be as charming as Mr. Brynner and they haven't got enough hair to look like Elvis. I myself am in the Presley category because I've got just as much hair as he has. However, I happen to have about three times as much scalp area as Elvis so actually the fact that I've got several bald spots is more or less of an optical illusion. My barber keeps insisting that it's not an illusion at all and that unless I take 50 of his Ten Dollar Treatments I'll lose every hair on my head. In other words, I can either be completely bald or completely broke. Or maybe even both.

Red Cross Bloodmobile Slated For Visit Here Next Monday

The local chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Circleville Methodist Church, corner of Main and Pickaway, from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. next Monday.

The blood donor committee will include: Winship Story, who was named chairman of the blood program for the first half of 1957, Charles Hart, Montford Kirkwood, and Lawrence Varble. In addition, a chairman from each township in Pickaway County represents the committee for that township.

Each township in the county has a quota of five donors, and the chairman from each township is endeavoring to list names of 40 or 50 people willing to donate once a year. From this list of names will be picked at least five who can donate for a particular visit.

Industries, business, clubs and other groups will be called on to fill the rest of the quota of 150 pints per visit for Pickaway County. Industry in particular has been contributing well for past visits and it is hoped that renewed efforts in other groups will aid in meeting this 150 pint quota for Pickaway County.

* * *

WALK-INS — unscheduled donors—also have aided in the past, and blood program officials hope that anyone who is able will walk in and contribute to the effort. School children in county and Circleville schools are assisting the effort to achieve the quota of blood donors for this visit by taking home notices of the time and place of the bloodmobile's visit.

Program chairman Story stressed the need for blood as follows:

"Blood supplies in this part of the state are low. You never know when you or someone in your family may need this vital fluid. If a person can, he is urged to donate next Monday, February 25."

Zwicker Recalled In Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker will be recalled from the Far East to reply to an accusation by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that he lied during the McCarthy-Army hearings in 1954.

The Senate Armed Services Committee is considering whether to approve Zwicker's promotion to temporary major general and permanent brigadier general.

McCarthy, who once said Zwicker was "unfit to wear the uniform," spent more than two hours Wednesday telling the committee why he opposes the promotion.

McCarthy has said that Zwicker lied under oath in denying that he had given McCarthy information from secret Army personnel files.

Fraternization Curbed By Army

GOEPPINGEN, Germany (AP)—Some officers of the U.S. 8th Infantry Division have been dating German maids employed in Army households, and the division commander has stopped it.

An Army spokesman said an officer, for example, might take his girl friend to an Army cocktail party attended by her employers.

"It might be embarrassing to both the maid and to her employer," he said. "We believe it would be inappropriate for an officer to date a maid who is working in an American housing area."

Winship Story Named Blood Drive Chairman

Local Man Has Wide Experience In Red Cross Programs

Winship W. Story will serve as Pickaway County blood program chairman for the first half of 1957. The announcement was made today by the county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Area residents will have opportunity to donate blood next Monday when the Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Circleville Methodist church from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Story, who has been a resident of Pickaway County since 1953, served as blood program industrial chairman early in 1956 and as vice chairman for the latter half of 1956. His prior work with Red Cross blood programs goes back to 1940 when he assisted in obtaining blood donors in Cambridge, Mass.

During the Korean Conflict he was blood program chairman of the university area of Buffalo, N. Y. In 17 years, Story has given over three gallons of blood.

* * *

BORN IN Wilkinsburg, Pa., in 1910, Story is a mechanical engineer, graduating from Tufts University, Medford, Mass. in 1933. During his collegiate years he was intercollegiate wrestling champion in his weight class.

He wrestled professionally as the "White Phantom" in the Boston area for a few years following his graduation from Tufts.

Story is married and his wife is known to many in Pickaway County through her work as a substitute teacher. He has one son, Winship, Jr., who is a senior in Circleville High School.

Story is employed by the Du Pont Company and has served as safety and fire protection supervisor since 1954. He has served in various engineering capacities since joining the DuPont Company in 1945.

Prior to coming to Pickaway County he was a research engineer at Buffalo, New York.

Antarctic Crew Given Farewell

18 Yanks At Pole Expect -120 Cold

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — Operation Deep Freeze II ended today with a farewell flight to the South Pole.

Part 1 of Operation Deep Freeze, which ended last January, included the establishment of main bases at McMurdo and Little America V and exploration for other scientific stations. It was described as the "biggest base building and aerial exploratory mission ever mounted in a single antarctic expedition."

Operation Deep Freeze II saw the work fan out to set up and supply other bases.

* * *

OPERATION Deep Freeze III, expected to start next October, will bring in supplies and fresh personnel to replace the men who will serve at the stations through the antarctic winter.

The operations are being carried out as part of the United States' role in the International Geophysical Year program.

Darkness soon will cloak the continent. Temperatures will sink far below zero. Shrieking winds and stinging snow will lash the lonely outposts.

At the South Pole, antarctic explorer Paul Siple and 17 other men will attempt to be the first to survive a winter there.

Bulgaria Gets Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — Bulgarian and Soviet officials have wound up a "solidarity" meeting here with an agreement for a $50 million credit to Bulgaria.

Ike Claims U. N. Must 'Pressure' Balky Israelis

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Nations action to impose some form of sanctions on Israel appeared almost certain today after President Eisenhower declared the U. N. must "exert pressure" to get Israeli troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israel's only hope of averting a sanctions vote apparently lies in agreeing to withdraw its forces without the guarantees it has been demanding against a subsequent attack by Egypt.

Arab countries, working through the U.N.'s Asian-African group, have urged sanctions. The matter now is expected to come up in the U. N. Friday.

Eisenhower set forth the United States policy in a radio-television broadcast to the nation Wednesday night.

He called this a "fateful moment" for the U. N. and its influence in world affairs, declaring that "the future of the United Nations and peace in the Middle East may be at stake."

After recounting a long series of efforts to get Israel to agree to withdraw its forces, Eisenhower made this assertion:

* * *

"THE UNITED Nations must not fail. I believe that, in the interests of peace, the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply with the withdrawal resolutions."

But he added:

"Of course, we still hope that the government of Israel will see that its best immediate and long-term interests lie in compliance with the United Nations and in placing its trust in the resolutions of the United Nations and in the declaration of the United States with reference to the future."

Congressional reaction to Eisenhower's speech varied.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas expressed "regret that the administration still feels that there is no choice but to bring pressure on one side in a two-sided dispute.

"I agree that Israel should withdraw but I also feel that the withdrawal should be accompanied by adequate U.N. action that will not leave Israel defenseless."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) commented that "as far as it went, it was a good speech." But he said it did not point out the future course of this government.

What Eisenhower said about exerting pressure carried the United States position beyond any point previously made by him or Secretary of State Dulles. Both have said in general terms that the United States must support the United Nations, but neither indicated what action the United Nations should take.

Officials here have recognized all along that this was the critical question. If the United States opposed sanctions the pressure from Arab countries in the U.N. to penalize Israel would probably be frustrated. If the United States supported sanctions, a resolution calling for such action probably would be voted.

Dock Strike Ended, But Work Is Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—The eight-day East Coast dock strike officially ended Wednesday night, but how many of the 45,000 longshoremen go back to work today still was in doubt.

In Baltimore and Hampton Roads, Va., Wednesday night, union bosses said local issues have not been settled and the men would not return to their jobs.

Baltimore ILA chief August Idzik said the Baltimore employers, in agreeing to a master contract applying from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, rescinded some of the local provisions they previously had OKd.

At Hampton Roads, ILA local leader David Alston said the men "will not go to work. We have some local conditions that we have to talk about . . ."

Longshoremen in New York were scheduled to vote today on ratification of the new agreement. None of the votes will be counted until all of the North Atlantic ports have voted.

Meanwhile, settlement was announced early today of the three-week-old tugboat strike in New York Harbor. The crewmen vote Friday on ratification.

The six-year contract provides for an 11 per cent wage increase over the first two years with reopenings every two years, federal mediators disclosed. Wages had been $1.76 to $2.80 an hour.

51 Fillies Taking Pie Test On Range

CHICAGO (AP)—A field of 51 fillies lined up today for a test on the range.

The girls were entered in the 25th annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest.

Each of the entries was listed as the champion of her home area, the 48 states, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Contestants range in age from 14 to 20. Each bakes two pies, and then picks the one to be judged.

Licensing Of Cats Seen Boon To Rats

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. (AP)—This community is wondering about the old saying, "When the cat is away, the mice will play."

Several weeks ago, city council passed an ordinance licensing cats. Cats without tags were taken to a cat pound.

Now the council is told rats are overrunning the community.

Mrs. Lillian Petronio, appeared before the lawmakers Wednesday night, and said:

"The old fashioned alley cats will be eliminated because of the ordinance and the rats will survive."

Top Senior In Ohio Eyes Nuclear Job

COLUMBUS (AP)—David Stewart Wiley of Troy High School, who wants to become a nuclear engineer, placed first among boys who took the genral scholarship test for high school seniors, with a score of 254.

Highest mark posted by a girl was the 239 received by Judie Jacobs of Brush High School, South Euclid. She listed "something scientific" for her profession.

The 27th annual senior scholarship test was taken by 16,759 of Ohio's top seniors. R. M. Eyman, superintendent of public instruction, said:

"The results of this test are recognized by colleges and universities throughout the nation as one of the most reliable measures of academic success in institutions of higher learning."

Emmett Brown Keeler of Fairborn High School, George Carroll Nieman of Tipp City High School and James Walter Spindler of Middletown High School tied for second place among the boys with 249. Anita Kay Stoll of Piketon High School was second ranking girl with 238. Sally Marie Combs of Van Wert was third with 236.

Science, engineering and medicine appear to be the most popular professions selected by the boys, while girls favored teaching, medicine and journalism.

The tests were given Jan. 17-19.

Utility Bond Deal Given Approval

COLUMBUS (AP) —The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today authorized the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. to issue $16 million in 30-year first mortgage bonds.

Red Cross Bloodmobile Slated For Visit Here Next Monday

The local chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Circleville Methodist Church, corner of Main and Pickaway, from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. next Monday.

The blood donor committee will include: Winship Story, who was named chairman of the blood program for the first half of 1957, Charles Hart, Montford Kirkwood, and Lawrence Varble. In addition, a chairman from each township in Pickaway County represents the committee for that township.

Each township in the county has a quota of five donors, and the chairman from each township is endeavoring to list names of 40 or 50 people willing to donate once a year. From this list of names will be picked at least five who can donate for a particular visit.

Industries, business, clubs and other groups will be called on to fill the rest of the quota of 150 pints per visit for Pickaway County. Industry in particular has been contributing well for past visits and it is hoped that renewed efforts in other groups will aid in meeting this 150 pint quota for Pickaway County.

* * *

WALK-INS — unscheduled donors—also have aided in the past, and blood program officials hope that anyone who is able will walk in and contribute to the effort. School children in county and Circleville schools are assisting the effort to achieve the quota of blood donors for this visit by taking home notices of the time and place of the bloodmobile's visit.

Program chairman Story stressed the need for blood as follows:

"Blood supplies in this part of the state are low. You never know when you or someone in your family may need this vital fluid. If a person can, he is urged to donate next Monday, February 25."

Reports Say New Proposal To Be Offered

Tiny Holy Land Nation Faces Punishment By Action Of World Body

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A faint hope flickered today that Israel, under continuing demands to withdraw its troops from Egyptian territory, may be on the verge of making a new concession.

Faced with the prospect of punishment from the United Nations, the tiny Holy Land country is the center of a tinderbox dispute in the tense Middle East.

Informed sources said this afternoon that Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, just arrived in his homeland from the United States, had been instructed to return to Washington immediately with new proposals for solving the Middle East deadlock.

Eban was told to leave tonight or early Friday, informants said.

Premier Ben-Gurion is reported to be sending a personal cable to President Eisenhower outlining Israel's hopes for further negotiations.

The reports said the cable will stress that these negotiations should aim at withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Aqaba areas while safeguarding Israeli security and freedom of shipping.

* * *

In Jerusalem, Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States, was met at the airport this morning by a group of 40 right-wing demonstrators who urged him to stand fast against American and U. N. pressure for Israel to withdraw.

The demonstrators carried a banner reading "No submission, No retreat."

Another banner read: "Who submits today will submit tomorrow. Who stands fast today will stand fast tomorrow."

THE GOVERNMENT has refused to quit the Gaza Strip and Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast without firm guarantees against renewal of Egyptian attacks.

The independent Tel Aviv Maariv, an afternoon paper which in many cases reflects general popular feeling, said in an editorial:

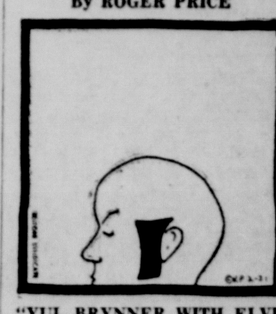

"There seemed to be some hope for a compromise solution. But this hope no longer exists after the Eisenhower address. Eisenhower demands our unconditional surrender. To this there can be one answer only: No."

Meanwhile, the U. N. General Assembly held up its showdown Middle East debate until Friday afternoon to await results of re-

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"YUL BRYNNER WITH ELVIS PRESLEY HAIRCUT"

This Droodle, contributed by Walter Sykes of Bethesda, Md., points out the unfortunate fact that the success of a man today can depend entirely on the amount of hair he has or hasn't got. Most men are in-betweens. They aren't bald enough to be as charming as Mr. Brynner and they haven't got enough hair to look like Elvis. I myself am in the Presley category because I've got just as much hair as he has. However, I happen to have about three times as much scalp area as Elvis so actually the fact that I've got several bald spots is more or less of an optical illusion. My barber keeps insisting that it's not an illusion at all and that unless I take 50 of his Ten Dollar Treatments I'll lose every hair on my head. In other words, I can either be completely bald or completely broke. Or maybe even both.

The U. S. request for a 24-hour delay in the Assembly meeting was granted on the heels of a new Eisenhower appeal to Premier David Ben-Gurion to order Israeli troops back behind the 1949 armistice lines by nightfall.

The President declared in a broadcast Wednesday night that the U. N. "has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel" to pull back her forces. This was generally interpreted as meaning the United States is ready to support U. N. sanctions.

* * *

ELSEWHERE in the Western camp, opposition to any such action mounted. Denmark announced she would not vote for sanctions and a similar stand was expected from the other four Scandinavian countries.

France was expected to fight such penalties. Canada and Australia were also opposed.

Although U. S. support is necessary to make any sanctions resolution effective, two-thirds of the 80-nation Assembly—or 54 nations, must vote for the resolution to secure its adoption.

The 27-nation Asian - African group has drafted a resolution calling on all U. N. members to refrain from giving Israel any economic, financial or military aid. Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles Malik plans to put the resolution before the Assembly Friday.

In London, the Foreign Office said Britain feels an Israeli withdrawal from Egypt should be combined with a U. N. guarantee of freedom of passage in the Gulf of Aqaba.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the first step should be agreement about the withdrawal of the Israeli forces and that there should then be agreement, another U.N. resolution, to cover freedom of passage in the Stratis of Tiran and the other related matters.

He also said it would be wrong for the British representative at the United Nations "to support sanctions against Israel without the other part of the picture being covered."

"I hope myself," he said, "it will not come to sanctions."

Sea Level Showing Continual Climb

COLUMBUS (AP)—The sea level has risen several hundred feet during fairly recent times, the dean of the graduate school at Louisiana State University said Wednesday in a talk to the University chapter of Sigma Xi, a national society for encouragement of scientific research.

Dr. Richard J. Russell said, however, there are signs of a recent slowing in this trend. He said the average rise in the last 18,000 years was about 450 feet, possibly concentrated in 130 centuries, or about three and a half feet per century. He added that the sea level rise during the first half of this century appears to have been two and a half inches or less.

City police today asked the local public to be on the lookout for a bogus septic tank repair and service man who fails to make good on his promises.

Merriman reminded residents that they should always ask to see credentials, and check by phone if they feel it is necessary, before entering into any such agreements with strangers.

U.S. Develops Plane-Carried Atomic Rockets

Attacking Enemy To Be Blasted Out Of Sky, Experts Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is preapred to use atomic explosions high in the air to blast down attacking enemy bombers.

The Defense Department disclosed Wednesday night not only that atomic rockets have been developed for that purpose, but that they have been made available to U. S. air defense forces.

The present rockets are designed for firing from jet fighter-interceptors. Nuclear weapons are to be provided later for ground firing from anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

The department sought to minimize the possible danger from the rockets, both in storage near cities and in use high in the air.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said the weapons "provide by far the most effective form of defense against air attack." He said they can "destroy aircraft within a considerable distance from the point of burst," meaning no direct hit is necessary.

* * *

THE PENTAGON declined, on grounds of military security, to say either just where the weapons are stored or what they are like.

In its unprecedented disclosure of a military secret, the government sought to forestall anxiety by saying that:

1. Elaborate precautions have been taken in the design and handling" of the weapons to minimize the possibility of accident.

2. Tests made by the Atomic Energy Commission confirm that "the possibility of any nuclear explosion occurring either by impact (apparently something like a missile falling off a truck or accidentally dropping from a plane) or fire is virtually nonexistent."

3. Stored weapons don't emit dangerous radiation to persons living nearby or passing locations where weapons are located.

4. If the weapons must someday be used against enemy bombers, they would be exploded at such high altitude that people or property on the ground would not be in danger from blast, heat or radiation.

The Pentagon recalled that a high-altitude test of a nuclear explosion was made in 1955 at the Nevada Proving Grounds and that no damage or injury resulted.

Aragon, the nation's third ranking welterweight, was convicted of offering unranked Dick Goldstein a $500 bribe to throw a fight in Texas last December.

The verdict could end the boxing career of the colorful Los Angeles golden boy. Before the trial, the state athletic commission indicated Aragon would have to be acquitted before his 1957 boxing license would be issued.

He faces a possible penalty of up to five years in prison.

George Washington Prayed for Peace

By Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston

WE HONOR George Washington as one of history's greatest soldier-statesmen. The fact is, he is much more than this.

When he led the colonial troops to battle, Washington had no nuclear weapons or guided missiles to hurl at his enemy. But he did have a secret weapon that helped him defeat the despotism that threatened our national freedom.

THIS GREAT military leader did not rely on arms alone. At Valley Forge, and throughout the American Revolution, he turned to God, seeking in Him a strength and courage he knew he could never discover in himself. He did this with the conviction that, since human rights and dignity come from God, it is to God that we must turn for their restoration.

WASHINGTON

George Washington was a man of prayer.

IT IS NEARLY 200 years since our nation, under the leadership of Washington, freed itself from the chains of political oppression. But the world today is faced with a problem similar to his. The Communists have already robbed many nations of their freedom and are threatening to extend their Godless regime throughout the whole world.

Americans find it hard to imagine how cruel Communist tyranny is. The smile that at times wrinkles the face of "Big Brother" makes us feel that the Reds are not too bad after all. But the slaughter in Hungary and the experiences of missionaries returned from prison camps behind the Iron Curtain tell a different story. They remind us that behind that warm grin beats a cold and ruthless heart.

Already the free people of the world have joined in efforts to stop this diabolical tyranny. To the extent that freedom loving people have united, it would seem that history is repeating itself. But this is not enough.

ONE THING still remains. Will the people of our time realize, as Washington did, the power of prayer in this struggle? Will we learn that besides the hydrogen bombs and guided missiles there is one more weapon without which victory can never be won? Will we turn to prayer?

Washington's prayers, offered to God in the midst of war, were for the preservation of the rights of the individual, who possesses a unique dignity as the image of God. He prayed for the protection of the oppressed against whatever violates their liberties. Our prayers today must be for these same things — that God's providence may restore them wherever they have been violated.

HISTORY CAN repeat itself. There is no tyranny so awful that it will not crumble beneath the arm of the All-powerful God. Will our fight for freedom be as prayerful as Washington's? It is up to you . . . and your prayers.

World News In Brief

Jet Fighter Plane Hits School Area

HERTFORD, N. C. (AP) — A jet plane crashed into the Perquimans County High School garage here today and first reports said two mechanics were badly burned.

The Coast guard stationed at nearby Elizabeth City said it had learned from state police that no children were injured. The garage was housed in a building across the baseball field from the school.

Cmdr. John Natwig, Coast Guard operations officer, said two helicopters, two lighter-than-air craft, and several planes were dispatched from Elizabeth City to search around the Hertford area on the possibility the pilot had bailed out.

The two injured mechanics were taken to Chowan Hospital at nearby Edenton. They were Van Roach and Preston Morgan.

When first reports of the crash were heard, the countryside alerted for a major catastrophe since the reports said the school building itself had been hit.

CLEVELAND (AP) — In 1956 the net income of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. hit a record high of $32,372,976, its annual report showed today. This compared with $30,753,850 in 1955.

COLUMBUS (AP) — A 50-cents-a-fifth additional tax on liquor was proposed today by Sen. Fred W. Danner (R-Summit) who estimated it would produce $17 million a year.

Educator's Son Put On Probation

HAMILTON (AP)—The 18-year-old son of a Hamilton school board member will be on probation for a year for his connection with exploding of a home-made "bomb" in the yard at the home of John O. Fry, Hamilton High School principal, Jan. 8.

The youth — Robert Henes, a freshman at Kenyon College—pleaded innocent to charges of possession and use of a bomb. After hearing the evidence Wednesday, Municipal Judge Frank F. Wessel reduced the charge to possession and use of fireworks. He then placed Henes, son of Mrs. Mildred Henes, on probation for a year and gave him a suspended $500 fine. Five Hamilton High school youths also have been accused in the case and those cases are pending in juvenile court.

Defense Has Yet To Answer In Zoning Law Fight

The legal contest over Circleville's zoning ordinance appeared today to be headed for a long, drawn out struggle.

Attorney Tom Renick, who along with Attorney William Ammer is defending the ordinance, told The Herald today that he had not as yet filed an answer to the petition attacking the zoning law. He added:

"No date has been set for answering."

The petition attacking the ordinance was first filed last November by taxpayers Guy Rader, Ida Kraft Rader and Murl F. Thornton. It alleges, in part, that the establishment of districts in the city for the purpose of regulating and restricting the location of buildings is illegal.

Law Change Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today will ask his cabinet for recommendations on possible changes in Ohio laws governing homes for the aged.

Ohio To Start 'In Black' In New Bookkeeping Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio is going to start out its two - year bookkeeping period July 1 financially even at least, the new Republic governor predicts.

Gov. C. William O'Neill told newsmen Wednesday there will be enough money in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal biennium to make up whatever deficit is found to exist in the state school subsidy fund.

There might even be a few dollars left over.

The 1955 Legislature appropriated 275 million dollars for the school subsidy under a new distribution formula in the two-year period which ends June 30. Estimates are that 25 to 30 million more will be needed to meet the state's obligation until June 30, but O'Neill says he doesn't have a final figure yet.

Presumably the state school subsidy cost for the last two years, as well as the next two years, will have been established by the time O'Neill delivers his budget message to the Legislature Tuesday afternoon.

Cost of the school subsidy in the next two years, O'Neill estimates, will be 360 to 365 million "the biggest money problem we have."

The deficiency appropriation for schools will not be included in the big budget bill—which, for the first time, may reach one billion dollars—but will be in a separate measure. It will come from the surplus built up in the present two-year bookkeeping period.

The surplus of actual collections above the income estimates of two years ago would have been 80 million had not the Legislature dug into the surplus for urgent needs in the last two years, O'Neill said. But even after meeting the school deficit there will be a modest surplus.

O'Neill said he discussed the budget for two hours with House speaker Roger Cloud, Senate majority leader C. Stanley Mechem and John Skipton, the finance director, Wednesday and will confer with them again before the budget message is delivered. He will talk over the budget with his Cabinet today, he said.

Possible state purchase of Malabar Farm in Richland County, home of the late conservationist and author Louis Bromfield, moved a step closer Wednesday. The House voted 96-32 to create a commission to study purchase of the farm, which bears a $145,000 price tag. Creation of the commission now will be considered by the Senate.

The six-member Senate-House group would be required to make its recommendation by March 18.

A proposal was made in the House by Rep. James F. McCaffery (D-Cuyahoga) to compel the entire state to observe Eastern Standard Time. But the bill appeared destined to run afoul of the "home rule" provisions of the Ohio constitution under which many northeastern Ohio areas now go on "fast time" in the summer months.

Three Democratic senators—Ed Witmer of Canton, Charles Carney of Youngstown and Frank King of Toledo—offered a bill which would add temporary disability insurance to Ohio's unemployment compensation system.

State plans, they pointed out, offer no protection for a worker who is off the job because of illness or a non-industrial accident.

Other bills introduced Wednesday would:

Permit a horse racing track to have more than 44 racing dates a year, so long as the increase does not conflict with dates of nearby tracks.

Raise the cost of fishing, hunting and trapping licenses, but give them free to all residents over 65.

Provide fines of $100 to $500 a day against the natural resources director and the park chief for each day they permit swimming in unguarded state lakes.

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. However unsigned letters will be disregarded. Nom de plume will be used if requested.

EDITOR, THE HERALD:

During the past few weeks the churches of Pickaway County have conducted a clothing drive for incoming Hungarian refugees at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey. The people of Pickaway County were very generous in their giving. Approximately two truck loads of clothing were collected.

Due to the fact there were so many people working on the project, it is impossible to list the name of every person individually. We wish to thank everyone who helped in any way.

The Pickaway County National Guard Unit made the armory available to us, where the clothing was sorted and packed by volunteers. The clothing was transported from Circleville to Camp Kilmer by the Winorr Canning Company of Circleville.

To all the various church congregations, all individuals, civic organizations and business establishments etc., that contributed clothing, money or their time and effort, our thanks for supporting such a worthy cause.

Sincerely
Mrs. Fred Tammany

Ohio Wesleyan Eyes Expansion

DELAWARE (AP)—Dr. Arthur S. Flamming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says there probably will be no decision regarding an expansion program for the school until June 1958.

A study released Wednesday and conducted by a special faculty committee showed that colleges and universities considering expansion face heavy additional financial obligations. If Ohio Wesleyan adds 500 students, it will need more than $5 million to give maximum service to its student body, the report said.

Reports Say New Proposal To Be Offered

The U. S. request for a 24-hour delay in the Assembly meeting was granted on the heels of a new Eisenhower appeal to Premier David Ben-Gurion to order Israeli troops back behind the 1949 armistice lines by nightfall.

The President declared in a broadcast Wednesday night that the U. N. "has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel" to pull back her forces. This was generally interpreted as meaning the United States is ready to support U. N. sanctions.

* * *

ELSEWHERE in the Western camp, opposition to any such action mounted. Denmark announced she would not vote for sanctions and a similar stand was expected from the other four Scandinavian countries.

France was expected to fight such penalties. Canada and Australia were also opposed.

Although U. S. support is necessary to make any sanctions resolution effective, two-thirds of the 80-nation Assembly—or 54 nations, must vote for the resolution to secure its adoption.

The 27-nation Asian - African group has drafted a resolution calling on all U. N. members to refrain from giving Israel any economic, financial or military aid. Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles Malik plans to put the resolution before the Assembly Friday.

In London, the Foreign Office said Britain feels an Israeli withdrawal from Egypt should be combined with a U. N. guarantee of freedom of passage in the Gulf of Aqaba.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the first step should be agreement about the withdrawal of the Israeli forces and that there should then be agreement, another U.N. resolution, to cover freedom of passage in the Stratis of Tiran and the other related matters.

He also said it would be wrong for the British representative at the United Nations "to support sanctions against Israel without the other part of the picture being covered."

"I hope myself," he said, "it will not come to sanctions."

Sea Level Showing Continual Climb

COLUMBUS (AP)—The sea level has risen several hundred feet during fairly recent times, the dean of the graduate school at Louisiana State University said Wednesday in a talk to the University chapter of Sigma Xi, a national society for encouragement of scientific research.

Dr. Richard J. Russell said, however, there are signs of a recent slowing in this trend. He said the average rise in the last 18,000 years was about 450 feet, possibly concentrated in 130 centuries, or about three and a half feet per century. He added that the sea level rise during the first half of this century appears to have been two and a half inches or less.

U.S. Develops Plane-Carried Atomic Rockets

Attacking Enemy To Be Blasted Out Of Sky, Experts Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is preapred to use atomic explosions high in the air to blast down attacking enemy bombers.

The Defense Department disclosed Wednesday night not only that atomic rockets have been developed for that purpose, but that they have been made available to U. S. air defense forces.

The present rockets are designed for firing from jet fighter-interceptors. Nuclear weapons are to be provided later for ground firing from anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

The department sought to minimize the possible danger from the rockets, both in storage near cities and in use high in the air.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said the weapons "provide by far the most effective form of defense against air attack." He said they can "destroy aircraft within a considerable distance from the point of burst," meaning no direct hit is necessary.

* * *

THE PENTAGON declined, on grounds of military security, to say either just where the weapons are stored or what they are like.

In its unprecedented disclosure of a military secret, the government sought to forestall anxiety by saying that:

1. Elaborate precautions have been taken in the design and handling" of the weapons to minimize the possibility of accident.

2. Tests made by the Atomic Energy Commission confirm that "the possibility of any nuclear explosion occurring either by impact (apparently something like a missile falling off a truck or accidentally dropping from a plane) or fire is virtually nonexistent."

3. Stored weapons don't emit dangerous radiation to persons living nearby or passing locations where weapons are located.

4. If the weapons must someday be used against enemy bombers, they would be exploded at such high altitude that people or property on the ground would not be in danger from blast, heat or radiation.

The Pentagon recalled that a high-altitude test of a nuclear explosion was made in 1955 at the Nevada Proving Grounds and that no damage or injury resulted.

George Washington Prayed for Peace

By Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston

When he led the colonial troops to battle, Washington had no nuclear weapons or guided missiles to hurl at his enemy. But he did have a secret weapon that helped him defeat the despotism that threatened our national freedom.

THIS GREAT military leader did not rely on arms alone. At Valley Forge, and throughout the American Revolution, he turned to God, seeking in Him a strength and courage he knew he could never discover in himself. He did this with the conviction that, since human rights and dignity come from God, it is to God that we must turn for their restoration.

George Washington was a man of prayer.

IT IS NEARLY 200 years since our nation, under the leadership of Washington, freed itself from the chains of political oppression. But the world today is faced with a problem similar to his. The Communists have already robbed many nations of their freedom and are threatening to extend their Godless regime throughout the whole world.

Americans find it hard to imagine how cruel Communist tyranny is. The smile that at times wrinkles the face of "Big Brother" makes us feel that the Reds are not too bad after all. But the slaughter in Hungary and the experiences of missionaries returned from prison camps behind the Iron Curtain tell a different story. They remind us that behind that warm grin beats a cold and ruthless heart.

Already the free people of the world have joined in efforts to stop this diabolical tyranny. To the extent that freedom loving people have united, it would seem that history is repeating itself. But this is not enough.

ONE THING still remains. Will the people of our time realize, as Washington did, the power of prayer in this struggle? Will we learn that besides the hydrogen bombs and guided missiles there is one more weapon without which victory can never be won? Will we turn to prayer?

Washington's prayers, offered to God in the midst of war, were for the preservation of the rights of the individual, who possesses a unique dignity as the image of God. He prayed for the protection of the oppressed against whatever violates their liberties. Our prayers today must be for these same things — that God's providence may restore them wherever they have been violated.

HISTORY CAN repeat itself. There is no tyranny so awful that it will not crumble beneath the arm of the All-powerful God. Will our fight for freedom be as prayerful as Washington's? It is up to you . . . and your prayers.

Jet Fighter Plane Hits School Area

HERTFORD, N. C. (AP) — A jet plane crashed into the Perquimans County High School garage here today and first reports said two mechanics were badly burned.

The Coast guard stationed at nearby Elizabeth City said it had learned from state police that no children were injured. The garage was housed in a building across the baseball field from the school.

Cmdr. John Natwig, Coast Guard operations officer, said two helicopters, two lighter-than-air craft, and several planes were dispatched from Elizabeth City to search around the Hertford area on the possibility the pilot had bailed out.

The two injured mechanics were taken to Chowan Hospital at nearby Edenton. They were Van Roach and Preston Morgan.

Defense Has Yet To Answer In Zoning Law Fight

The legal contest over Circleville's zoning ordinance appeared today to be headed for a long, drawn out struggle.

Attorney Tom Renick, who along with Attorney William Ammer is defending the ordinance, told The Herald today that he had not as yet filed an answer to the petition attacking the zoning law. He added:

"No date has been set for answering."

The petition attacking the ordinance was first filed last November by taxpayers Guy Rader, Ida Kraft Rader and Murl F. Thornton. It alleges, in part, that the establishment of districts in the city for the purpose of regulating and restricting the location of buildings is illegal.

Law Change Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today will ask his cabinet for recommendations on possible changes in Ohio laws governing homes for the aged.

LOSES 70 LBS. WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

ZANESVILLE, OHIO—"I have lost 70 lbs. while using Rennel Concentrate," writes Mrs. C. I. Gadd, 1367 Maysville Ave., Zanesville, O. "Now I not only feel better, but I have so much more pep."

Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of liquid RENNEL Concentrate. You'll never know a hungry moment while reducing with RENNEL.

Ohio To Start 'In Black' In New Bookkeeping Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio is going to start out its two - year bookkeeping period July 1 financially even at least, the new Republic governor predicts.

Gov. C. William O'Neill told newsmen Wednesday there will be enough money in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal biennium to make up whatever deficit is found to exist in the state school subsidy fund.

There might even be a few dollars left over.

The 1955 Legislature appropriated 275 million dollars for the school subsidy under a new distribution formula in the two-year period which ends June 30. Estimates are that 25 to 30 million more will be needed to meet the state's obligation until June 30, but O'Neill says he doesn't have a final figure yet.

Presumably the state school subsidy cost for the last two years, as well as the next two years, will have been established by the time O'Neill delivers his budget message to the Legislature Tuesday afternoon.

Cost of the school subsidy in the next two years, O'Neill estimates, will be 360 to 365 million "the biggest money problem we have."

The deficiency appropriation for schools will not be included in the big budget bill—which, for the first time, may reach one billion dollars—but will be in a separate measure. It will come from the surplus built up in the present two-year bookkeeping period.

The surplus of actual collections above the income estimates of two years ago would have been 80 million had not the Legislature dug into the surplus for urgent needs in the last two years, O'Neill said. But even after meeting the school deficit there will be a modest surplus.

O'Neill said he discussed the budget for two hours with House speaker Roger Cloud, Senate majority leader C. Stanley Mechem and John Skipton, the finance director, Wednesday and will confer with them again before the budget message is delivered. He will talk over the budget with his Cabinet today, he said.

Possible state purchase of Malabar Farm in Richland County, home of the late conservationist and author Louis Bromfield, moved a step closer Wednesday. The House voted 96-32 to create a commission to study purchase of the farm, which bears a $145,000 price tag. Creation of the commission now will be considered by the Senate.

The six-member Senate-House group would be required to make its recommendation by March 18.

A proposal was made in the House by Rep. James F. McCaffery (D-Cuyahoga) to compel the entire state to observe Eastern Standard Time. But the bill appeared destined to run afoul of the "home rule" provisions of the Ohio constitution under which many northeastern Ohio areas now go on "fast time" in the summer months.

Three Democratic senators—Ed Witmer of Canton, Charles Carney of Youngstown and Frank King of Toledo—offered a bill which would add temporary disability insurance to Ohio's unemployment compensation system.

State plans, they pointed out, offer no protection for a worker who is off the job because of illness or a non-industrial accident.

Other bills introduced Wednesday would:

Permit a horse racing track to have more than 44 racing dates a year, so long as the increase does not conflict with dates of nearby tracks.

Raise the cost of fishing, hunting and trapping licenses, but give them free to all residents over 65.

Provide fines of $100 to $500 a day against the natural resources director and the park chief for each day they permit swimming in unguarded state lakes.

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. However unsigned letters will be disregarded. Nom de plume will be used if requested.

EDITOR, THE HERALD:

During the past few weeks the churches of Pickaway County have conducted a clothing drive for incoming Hungarian refugees at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey. The people of Pickaway County were very generous in their giving. Approximately two truck loads of clothing were collected.

Due to the fact there were so many people working on the project, it is impossible to list the name of every person individually. We wish to thank everyone who helped in any way.

The Pickaway County National Guard Unit made the armory available to us, where the clothing was sorted and packed by volunteers. The clothing was transported from Circleville to Camp Kilmer by the Winorr Canning Company of Circleville.

To all the various church congregations, all individuals, civic organizations and business establishments etc., that contributed clothing, money or their time and effort, our thanks for supporting such a worthy cause.

Sincerely
Mrs. Fred Tammany

The other two motorists were arrested by the state patrol. They were as follows:

William A. Lipps, 38, Ashville; $15 and costs for speeding at 75.

'Ma' Sunday Dies At Age Of 88

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Helen (Ma) Sunday, widow of evangelist Billy Sunday, died here Thursday. She was 88.

She had been staying at the home of her grandson, Paul Haines, a Phoenix advertising man. Haines said his grandmother had been suffering from cancer of the lung and a heart ailment.

Mrs. Sunday, whose home was in Winona Lake, Ind., married the famous evangelist Sept. 18, 1888. Her husband, who spellbound audiences with his religious fervor, died in 1936.

Ohio Wesleyan Eyes Expansion

DELAWARE (AP)—Dr. Arthur S. Flamming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says there probably will be no decision regarding an expansion program for the school until June 1958.

A study released Wednesday and conducted by a special faculty committee showed that colleges and universities considering expansion face heavy additional financial obligations. If Ohio Wesleyan adds 500 students, it will need more than $5 million to give maximum service to its student body, the report said.

West Europe Sets Up Own Tariff Union

6 Nations Planning To Do Business Same As United States

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — With great labor pains Europe is giving birth at last to a customs union. In time this is expected to make doing business in its members countries much like doing business in the United States.

Our constitution forbids the individual states erecting tariff barriers against each other. And that has worked fine here for many years—even if the various states don't always see eye to eye on other matters.

The common market which six European nations are forging will mean in time that goods produced in Germany, say, can be sold in Italy without any markup in price due to a tariff.

The six nations are France, Italy, West Germany, Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. In time they will set up a combined system of tariffs against the goods of other nations, including the United States, outside the customs union. The six, however, assure Washington the barriers won't be high enough to be discriminatory.

But manufacturers in the six nations would have an advantage over those outside the common market, to the extent that tariffs would raise the selling price of the goods produced outside.

Britain isn't ready yet to join the customs union but is working hard for a 17-nation free trade area. It hopes that a draft of the plan will be ready by mid summer. This area would include the six nations in the common market and also Austria, Britain, Denmark, Greece, Ireland, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey.

Manufacturers in these 17 nations would have the competitive advantage of no tariff barriers there against their own goods (except possible agricultural products)—and presumably some protection against the competition of American and other outside manufacturers. Since this involves a consumer market of more than 250 million persons, it is no small prize for manufacturers to try to capture.

The chief difference between a customs union, such as is now being formed, and a free trade area, which may follow is this: A customs union sets up a combined system of tariffs against those outside the union. The free trade area, while abolishing such barriers against goods of its own members, leaves the member nations free to work out their own tariff schedules against all other nations.

Since admittedly this will take several years to effect, the impact on U. S. manufacturers will be delayed. But in time, many here fear, the impact will be considerable.

Proponents of the European Union—and this includes many U. S. top officials—contend that when the plan gets working everyone, including American businessmen, will benefit.

The idea is that when manufacturers in the European nations compete freely with each other, the way American manufacturers do for the common market of the 48 states, there will be more economical production and a steadily rising standard of living in Europe.

2 Georgia Racial Measures Shelved

ATLANTA (AP) — Two proposals dealing with racial segregation apparently are dead for the current session of the Georgia Legislature.

They are a bill to prohibit interracial sports and other activities and a resolution calling for an investigation of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Both have been sent to a study committee. Chances of either coming out before the legislature adjourns Friday are remote.

Costello Refused Freedom On Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello has been turned down in his bid for freedom on bail while appealing an income tax conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Costello was convicted in 1954 of evading $28,532 in federal income taxes in 1948 and 1949. He began a five-year prison term May 14, 1956.

After Years Abroad Ohioan Coming Home

The home J. Elmer Spyglass referred to is in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and this week, after an absence of 51 years, his wish will be realized.

Elmer settled in Germany after he came to Europe in 1906 as a singer. Well liked by everyone, he was never bothered by the Nazis in World War II.

When his Frankfort home was destroyed by bombs in 1944, he moved to the nearby village of Schwalbach, where, two years ago, the American was made an honorary citizen.

Elmer, whose German was flawless, went to work for the U. S. Army as an interpreter when the war ended. He later became a receptionist at the U. S. Consolate.

Last week, Elmer died unexpectedly. After funeral services here Wednesday, friends shipped his ashes to Ohio for burial in the family plot in Yellow Springs.

U.S. Water Supply Demand Increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government needs to prepare for doubled demands upon the nation's water supply 23 years hence, Congress has been told.

Secretary of Interior Seaton said that present water use in the United States amounts to 20 billion gallons a day — six times the 1900 rate.

"It has been estimated," he said, "that by 1980 use will be about double present day requirements."

Anyone Missing A Totem Pole?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An 8-foot totem pole was found on a Telegraph Hill sidewalk by Police Patrolman Frank McFarland.

He and three other officers loaded the 350-pound pole into a paddy wagon and took it to City Hall. Its owner is being sought.

Costello Refused Freedom On Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello has been turned down in his bid for freedom on bail while appealing an income tax conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Costello was convicted in 1954 of evading $28,532 in federal income taxes in 1948 and 1949. He began a five-year prison term May 14, 1956.

After Years Abroad Ohioan Coming Home

The home J. Elmer Spyglass referred to is in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and this week, after an absence of 51 years, his wish will be realized.

Elmer settled in Germany after he came to Europe in 1906 as a singer. Well liked by everyone, he was never bothered by the Nazis in World War II.

When his Frankfort home was destroyed by bombs in 1944, he moved to the nearby village of Schwalbach, where, two years ago, the American was made an honorary citizen.

Elmer, whose German was flawless, went to work for the U. S. Army as an interpreter when the war ended. He later became a receptionist at the U. S. Consolate.

Last week, Elmer died unexpectedly. After funeral services here Wednesday, friends shipped his ashes to Ohio for burial in the family plot in Yellow Springs.

U.S. Water Supply Demand Increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government needs to prepare for doubled demands upon the nation's water supply 23 years hence, Congress has been told.

Secretary of Interior Seaton said that present water use in the United States amounts to 20 billion gallons a day — six times the 1900 rate.

"It has been estimated," he said, "that by 1980 use will be about double present day requirements."

Anyone Missing A Totem Pole?

He and three other officers loaded the 350-pound pole into a paddy wagon and took it to City Hall. Its owner is being sought.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is setting this country on a new course if he intends to go along with anything stronger than moral sanctions against Israel for ignoring the United Nations' demand she get out of Egypt.

The United States did not call for sanctions in two of the most memorable defiances of the U.N.: Russia's refusal to get out of Hungary and Egypt's refusal years ago to stop blockading Israeli shipping.

For this country now to support anything stronger than moral sanctions against Israel would be to back the principle that—hereafter, at least—any nation defying U.N. demands must be punished.

That opens a road the end of which no one can foresee. The United States would look like a hypocrite if, having agreed to punish little Israel, it did not do the same in the future against any violator of U.N. demands, big or small.

It has been known from the foundation of the U.N. 12 years ago that it was no perfect instrument for preserving peace or international sanity and that it would work only so long, and in such a way, as its biggest members wanted.

It has done some good. If allowed to continue, it may do more good. And yet there is a limit to how long it can last if its members merely use it as a debating society and feel free individually to ignore it when it suits them.

Eisenhower acknowledged this in his nationwide broadcast Wednesday night. He said:

"We are approaching a fateful moment when either we must recognize that the United Nations is unable to restore peace in this area, or the United Nations must renew with increased vigor its efforts to bring about Israeli withdrawal."

But at the very moment he was talking about "pressure" on Israel, Eisenhower had to admit that Russia defied the U.N. on Hungary and got away with it. "Perhaps," he said, "this is a case where . . . two wrongs do not make a right."

He could have said more: The U.N. wouldn't dare try sanctions against Russia without chancing the end of the U.N. The only ones the U.N. dares try sanctions against are the small nations, like Israel.

He did say the United States has tried hard "to exert moral pressure" on Russia which, he added, "is relatively impervious to other types of sanction."

Eisenhower never once indicated how far this country is willing to move against Israel if she insists on keeping her troops in Gaza and the Aqaba Gulf area, both claimed by Egypt.

He never went beyond talking of moral sanctions, which is about as vague as he could get. He was equally vague on what this country would do to keep Egypt from attacking Israel if the latter withdraws her troops.

Israel has refused to budge without guarantees from the United States or the U.N. against future Egyptian attacks. Neither has promised anything definite. Eisenhower called the present situation a "crisis."

He might have said quite frankly: "Folks, this administration is on a spot."

With his new Middle East program for attracting Arabs not yet through Congress, Eisenhower is anxious to show the Arabs this country's heart is in the right place, where they're concerned.

But they're straining to get U.N. sanctions against Israel. If this country doesn't go along with real sanctions against Israel, it will lose some Arab belief in its good intentions before Eisenhower's program has a chance to start.

If the administration backs sanctions, it will antagonize friends of Israel both in this country and abroad, and American allies who have no use for Egyptian President Nasser, the No. 1 trouble-maker in the Mideast.

Nasser has to be handled. But Eisenhower can't start on that one until he gets the Israeli problem settled. Eisenhower doesn't know — so far as the public is aware — what new crisis Nasser will create once Israel is out of the way.

Chicago's Swank Area Under Guard

CHICAGO (AP)—Extra police patrolled Chicago's swank Gold Coast today because of a series of burglaries in which loot totaling an estimated $125,000 was reported stolen.

The latest theft was reported Tuesday by Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, widow of the owner of Maxwell Brothers Box Co., who told police jewelry valued at $50,000 was taken from her apartment.

The burglary of the Maxwell apartment was the sixth such theft in the near North Side area since Jan. 8.

CABINET CONTROVERSIES

IT WOULD BE a miracle if there were no changes in the Eisenhower cabinet in the near future. No President ever maintained his original cabinet intact far into his second term. And conditions within the cabinet are hardly more harmonious than usual.

What happens, usually, is that cabinet members who cherish their jobs suppress their grievances and win plaudits for co-operating "with the team." But this course seems to become more unpalatable as time passes, and there are bound to be eruptions.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphreys has let it be known that he regards the proposed $72 billion budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to be indefensible. It is obvious that his recommendations were not followed in drafting it.

Secretary of Defense Wilson is becoming increasingly unhappy over developments and can hardly pass over the rebuff handed him by Eisenhower. His wife has already voiced her views of the President's remarks at a press conference. Secretary of Agriculture Benson seems to have abandoned most of his original convictions and to favor the farm policies he formerly abhorred. But it must have been a bitter pill to swallow.

It is obvious that the cabinet will figure increasingly in the news from Washington. And some of the news may be of still more volcanic nature.

SERVICE OR BUSINESS?

UNTIL A CLEAR answer is made to the basic question of whether the U. S. mail is a service to the public or a business expected to pay its own way, Congress can be expected to go on reacting bleakly to proposed changes in first class mail rates.

If the postal service is a business, its pricing policies make little sense. What sort of enterprise is it that overcharges on one item in order to sell others below cost? Any businessman can answer that. It is a sort of thing that invites a summons from the Federal Trade Commission.

The capacity of Congress or the Postmaster General to evaluate precisely the social usefulness of the Harvard Law Review, or to compare its claims on the public purse with that of a dodger sent through the mails to 'Occupant," has never been demonstrated.

GOOD — THEY'RE WRONG

FORTUNATELY, Americans can take a relatively aloof and detached attitude toward the outcome of the struggle within the communist party in the United States which was resolved, at the party's New York convention, in favor of the Moscow bloc. The defeated bloc, led by John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, was undoubtedly right in its contention that the party is ruining its present and future prospects in the United States by strict adherence to the Kremlin line.

Most Americans, however, are happy to have home-grown communists be stubbornly wrong and ruin themselves and their prospects of strengthening themselves as rapidly as possible.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Soviet Russia has only one advantage over the United States and it is a tremendous one: the Russians can formulate a program of action based on a design for achievement and can put behind it all the resources of government. This the United States has not been able to do since John Hay was Secretary of State.

Current examples may suffice:

Soviet Russia made the infiltration of the Moslem world a basic policy, trained specialized personnel for it, discovered the particular individuals who would serve the Kremlin's purposes.

Whereupon, by the provision of arms, Soviet Russia came into the possession of the foreign policies of Egypt and Syria, stimulated revolutionary and nationalistic movements aimed at the destruction of the last remnants of the British and French Empires and the nullification of NATO, particularly the weakening of the Greek and Turkish alliances and the sacrifice of Pakistan to the ambitions of Nehru.

By this program, Soviet Russia hoped ultimately to eliminate the offensive capacity of NATO, to vitiate the effectiveness of the Balkan Alliance, to destroy the Baghdad Treaties and in due course to include the entire Arab world in the Soviet Universal State.

Having devised so grandiose a program, Soviet Russia moved slowly, permitting the course of events to work themselves, depending, in a measure, upon contradictory conduct of the Western powers.

The United States has never developed a consistent policy toward the new nations which have been carved out of the Ottoman Empire. Except for the support of doctrinaire anti-colonialism, the United States has supported Nasser, a dictator of the Hitler type; it has supported and oposed Israel; it has sold arms to Arab countries and withheld arms; it has poured billions into France for rehabilitation and also favored every revolution against France in North Africa; it has built the alliance between Turkey and Greece, and it has also been sympathetic toward the aspirations of Cyprus which can only lead to a war between Turkey and Greece.

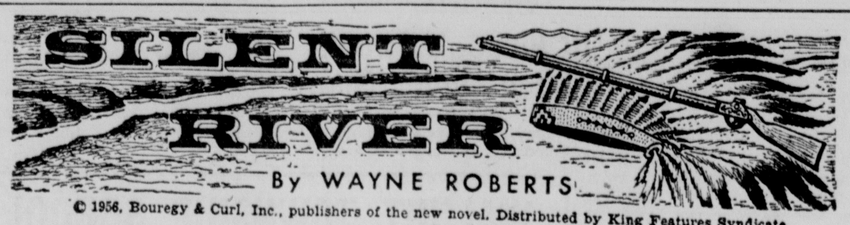

Having done more than any other country to establish Israel as a separate state, it prevented Israel from rectifying its borders and has come up with a proposal for solving the Israel-Egypt situation which defies analysis and understanding. Having encouraged the separatism of Pakistan, the United States has flirted wildly with Nehru, even to the extent of ignoring his imperialism in Kashmir.

These confusions of policy in one area of the Earth's surface have covered three Administrations, two Democratic and one Republican. It can be taken, from its persistence, as characteristic of policy-making. But one can go much further back to show how characteristic this confusion is. The United States has fought two wars, at great cost in life and wealth, to save Great Britain. It has financed, out of its taxation, Britain's economic recovery, making up its deficits to the tune of tens of billions of dolars.

However, at the same time, going back to when Woodrow Wilson was President, it has been American policy to support independence in India and it can be said that the Gandhi movement would never have achieved its strength were it not for American support. Ultimately, India became a sovereign country to the great damage of the British Empire.

CHAPTER 36

AT CHAD'S command his men dropped into a prone position. Turning, Chad waved his arm at the gunners, who had stayed behind. In a moment shot was flying overhead, plopping down into the writhing mass of Sioux.

The decks of the Red Nymph had been cleared of Indians. Fire poured from rifles and deck guns. All of Cut Lip's braves were mounted, and Chad thought they were going to break and run. Their position on the bank was untenable, caught in the open between the two bodies of whites. And they did run, but not as Chad had expected.

The Indians drove in a wild rush directly at the soldiers, fifty or more abreast and close together. It was an avalanche of men and horses, and the steady fire of the soldiers did not stop them. Painted braves spilled off their ponies in a swirl of bright feathers, but they closed ranks and came on, their war cries harsh with the threat of death.

For a terrible moment Chad wondered if his men would break. His gunners behind him could not fire now. The Indians were too close. There would be no help from the men on the boat, either.

Saunders cried out as an arrow caught him in the thigh. Tolliver swore when a bullet tagged him in the shoulder.

The forty-odd men lacked the firing power to break a charge like this. It was load and fire, load and fire; and Chad, thumbing shells into the cylinder of his revolver, felt the warm glow of admiration for his men. His men! Heroes, every son of them, whether they lived or died this day.

A big Indian was in front, war bonnet twisted by the wind. Zack swore an oath. "It's Cut Lip! Cut him down."

Then they were there, like a great ocean wave breaking against a shore. Chad emptied his gun, knocking two braves off their ponies. Cut Lip jabbed at him with his spear, and missed. No time to reload. There was a chaos of movement and sound all around him: struggling men and shouts and grunts and the shrill cries of mortally wounded men, plunging horses and spears seeking white-skinned bodies.

Chad was knocked down by a riderless horse. He got to his knees as Cut Lip rode at him again, painted face distorted with the fury of battle. Chad threw himself sideways. Mullvane, coming in from somewhere, pulled Cut Lip off his horse.

Another brave swung low on his pony and drove his knife into Mullvane's back. Chad, gripping his empty gun, regained his feet as Cut Lip rolled over. He drove the barrel downward across the warrior's head and Cut Lip, coming up off the ground, fell back and lay motionless.

The wild yelling changed in tone. The charge rolled on, but it wasn't a charge now. The Indians were fleeing, quartering off to the north, utterly disorganized, and wanting only to get away. Chad, wiping a hand across his sweaty face, saw that a blue-clad figure was leading a dozen men from the boat toward them.

Zack, blood dripping from a slash down his cheek, pointed to Cut Lip. "That's what done it, Lootinant. They didn't have no belly for it after he went down."

Chad knelt beside Mullvane. The big Irishman was dying, and he knew it. He was praying. Then he recognized Chad and his white lips tried to grin. He whispered, "We done 'em in, Lieutenant, we done 'em in." He reached up and Chad took his hand. "Sorry 'bout one thing. I'll never . . . get my shoulder bars."

Tears rolled down Chad's cheeks. After all the bitterness that had been between them, Mullvane had died helping him. He was a soldier, a good one. There was no fear in Mullvane. His hand slipped out of Chad's and he was gone.

Chad rose. Young Saunders was biting his lips to hold back his groans. Tolliver was dead. Anderson came toward Chad wearily. "Half the men are dead or wounded, sir."

"We'll get the wounded men to the boat." Chad heard a man yell, "Chad," and when he swung around he saw that the men from the boat were close and that the blue-clad figure he had seen leading them was Otto Grunwald.

Chad straightened to attention and saluted. "Lieutenant Endicott reporting, sir, acting commander of Fort Butterfield."

"Oh, for God's sake, Chad!" Otto exploded. "At ease." He held out his hand. "I never saw a finer sight in my life than when you brought your boys down that hill. We thought you were wiped out. Newspapers have been full of it."

"No, sir," Chad said. "We stuck through the winter. The fort's all right."

"And lucky for us you did." Otto slapped him on the back. "We were just about cooked when you took a hand." He stopped and stared at Chad. "Did you say you were acting commander of Fort Butterfield?"

"Yes, sir. Colonel Randall died last March."

Otto took a long breath. "Well, I knew he'd never lead a charge like that." He turned to the men behind him. "Help out with the wounded. Get them on the boat. We have a doctor." He swung back to Chad. "And someone else you'll want to see."

"Chad. Chad." It was Elizabeth's voice, coming from a great distance. She was running across the grass, her wet skirt clinging to her, and it seemed to Chad he must be dreaming, that this could not actually be happening.

Otto said, "She would never believe you were dead. See that she gets back to the boat. I'll take charge here."

Chad ran toward her. She came to him, crying his name over and over, her arms clutching him with the intensity of a woman who has found someone she loves whom she had thought lost. He kissed her, and still she clung to him as if she could not have enough of his lips.

They walked back across the grass, his arm around her. When they reached the bank, he picked her up and carried her through the shallow water to the boat. Men reached down and lifted her to the deck and he clambered up after her.

The captain offered his hand. "You and your men were a welcome sight, Lieutenant, a welcome sight." Chad stiffened. There, in front of him on the deck, was Alvin Stiner, a knife in his stomach. Not far from him lay a man in buckskin, shot in the chest.

"That was the strangest thing," the captain said. "I just happened to see it. Wasn't a minute after you showed up, and the Injuns were pulling out, that Stiner turned around and that breed jumped him. He threw the knife and Stiner plugged him. Here we were, yelling our heads off, knowing it was all over, and them two cut loose at each other."

Elizabeth had walked away. Chad went to her. He said, "You'd better go to your cabin. There's a lot to be done."

"I know," she said, "but I'm needed, too, and I'm going to help."

He looked at her and he knew he had no cause to worry about whether she would go with him from post to post, whether she would want more than he could give her. There would be a lot to be done for a long time, but it was all right. It was what he wanted, and with Elizabeth beside him—well, what more could a man ask for?

"Yes," he said. "A lot to be done."

How Heart Reports On Its Own Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WITH some 10,000,000 Americans suffering from some form of heart and circulatory disease, the electrocardiograph has become an essential piece of medical equipment.

Yet, many persons mistakenly fear this device which records the electro-reactions of the heart, and spurn the valuable information an electrocardiograph can give them.

Electrical Waves

Let me emphasize that an electrocardiograph does not send any waves of electricity through your body. It doesn't have to, the electricity is already there.

Your heart beats on the average of 60 to 80 times a minute. This beating creates electrical current, which travels through your body.

Simply by placing wires on the surface of your body we can pick up and record that current. From this record we can determine whether your heart is functioning normally.

Injured Muscle

Whenever a heart attack occurs, an area of the heart muscle is injured and does not function properly. This malfunction changes the direction of the flow of the electrical current in the body.

Tracings on a graph record the current. In the center is a line called the isoelectric potential.

Curved Line

These actions are recorded in a curved line—a complex curved line, I might add. The stylus traces a small loop when the upper chambers of the heart contract. Contraction of the large muscle chambers causes the stylus to form a different kind of loop.

Should there be an injury in the area of the heart muscle, the electrocardiograph will note a modification in the form of the curve traced for the big chamber of the heart.

The electrocardiograph, of course, is only one of the tools a physician uses to determine the status of your heart.

Sometimes an electrocardiograph alone won't tell us enough; but, in the majority of cases, it's a big help.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. P.: What would cause a feeling of an oily film on the lips?

Answer: This might be due to a vitamin deficiency, or it might be produced by a disturbance of the lips known as cheilitis. It might also be due to some infection of the mouth.

What Is Man At Age 45?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When a man isn't 45 years old, he leaves an area of doubt. Life is now settling this area for me.

Today, I am a year older. Do I feel 99 years old? Do I feel like 19 years old, when I went in for collegiate wrestling (middleweight champ, night hours, coeducational) or do I feel like two years old when I still insisted on autographing diapers?

The thing I am sure of is that I don't feel like 45, which I won't be.

Who am I? Where did I come from? Where do I want to go?

When I was a child I looked into a mirror and asked myself these questions. There was none to give me answer. Now again, after the trouble of many years of living, I ask the same question. The answer is the same.

I walk the walls of this world, as every man must, and I see no security except the courage to walk and defend these walls.

What does a man learn while walking when he isn't 45?

He has seen so many topple from the wall of this world from pride, envy, malice and hate that he knows that for these reasons they no longer walk.

But in his walk along the wall he also misses many he met along the way (from kindergarten to Korea and beyond) whom he treasured and who had every ability except how to escape death. Some didn't try. Some did. In any case frost changed and held them.

When a man isn't 45 years old, where is he?

Time, the merlin of the heart, stern calendar of the blood, measures an anxious vein, casts a forward shadow on the splendid tapestry of life's wonder, performance and desire.

Since I was a child life was always a thing of awe to me and in my mind there was always an interior clock.

The clock didn't give me a particular message. I was just aware of it. As the people I knew rose and disappeared after their fun in the sun or their defeat in the dark, I had the feeling that time was going by, too, and sometimes wondered whether I would join them in sunlight or shadow.

But I never had much of a sense, really, of either going or staying after I grew up. I suppose I felt I would probably be around a little longer.

When a man isn't 45 years old he naturally wonders (since the law doesn't guarantee he won't be 55 or 105) who will walk the walls of this world if he should no longer walk them, as in time he won't.

Will they be his kin? Will they stand upright? If they are strangers, will they walk taller?

These are merely a few of the thoughts of a man who has spent most of his life not being 45.

CABINET CONTROVERSIES

IT WOULD BE a miracle if there were no changes in the Eisenhower cabinet in the near future. No President ever maintained his original cabinet intact far into his second term. And conditions within the cabinet are hardly more harmonious than usual.

What happens, usually, is that cabinet members who cherish their jobs suppress their grievances and win plaudits for cooperating "with the team." But this course seems to become more unpalatable as time passes, and there are bound to be eruptions.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphreys has let it be known that he regards the proposed $72 billion budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to be indefensible. It is obvious that his recommendations were not followed in drafting it.

Secretary of Defense Wilson is becoming increasingly unhappy over developments and can hardly pass over the rebuff handed him by Eisenhower. His wife has already voiced her views of the President's remarks at a press conference. Secretary of Agriculture Benson seems to have abandoned most of his original convictions and to favor the farm policies he formerly abhorred. But it must have been a bitter pill to swallow.

It is obvious that the cabinet will figure increasingly in the news from Washington. And some of the news may be of still more volcanic nature.

SERVICE OR BUSINESS?

UNTIL A CLEAR answer is made to the basic question of whether the U. S. mail is a service to the public or a business expected to pay its own way, Congress can be expected to go on reacting bleakly to proposed changes in first class mail rates.

If the postal service is a business, its pricing policies make little sense. What sort of enterprise is it that overcharges on one item in order to sell others below cost? Any businessman can answer that. It is a sort of thing that invites a summons from the Federal Trade Commission.

The capacity of Congress or the Postmaster General to evaluate precisely the social usefulness of the Harvard Law Review, or to compare its claims on the public purse with that of a dodger sent through the mails to 'Occupant," has never been demonstrated.

GOOD — THEY'RE WRONG

FORTUNATELY, Americans can take a relatively aloof and detached attitude toward the outcome of the struggle within the communist party in the United States which was resolved, at the party's New York convention, in favor of the Moscow bloc. The defeated bloc, led by John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, was undoubtedly right in its contention that the party is ruining its present and future prospects in the United States by strict adherence to the Kremlin line.

Most Americans, however, are happy to have home-grown communists be stubbornly wrong and ruin themselves and their prospects of strengthening themselves as rapidly as possible.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Soviet Russia has only one advantage over the United States and it is a tremendous one: the Russians can formulate a program of action based on a design for achievement and can put behind it all the resources of government. This the United States has not been able to do since John Hay was Secretary of State.

Current examples may suffice:

Soviet Russia made the infiltration of the Moslem world a basic policy, trained specialized personnel for it, discovered the particular individuals who would serve the Kremlin's purposes.

Whereupon, by the provision of arms, Soviet Russia came into the possession of the foreign policies of Egypt and Syria, stimulated revolutionary and nationalistic movements aimed at the destruction of the last remnants of the British and French Empires and the nullification of NATO, particularly the weakening of the Greek and Turkish alliances and the sacrifice of Pakistan to the ambitions of Nehru.

By this program, Soviet Russia hoped ultimately to eliminate the offensive capacity of NATO, to vitiate the effectiveness of the Balkan Alliance, to destroy the Baghdad Treaties and in due course to include the entire Arab world in the Soviet Universal State.

Having devised so grandiose a program, Soviet Russia moved slowly, permitting the course of events to work themselves, depending, in a measure, upon contradictory conduct of the Western powers.

The United States has never developed a consistent policy toward the new nations which have been carved out of the Ottoman Empire. Except for the support of doctrinaire anti-colonialism, the United States has supported Nasser, a dictator of the Hitler type; it has supported and oposed Israel; it has sold arms to Arab countries and withheld arms; it has poured billions into France for rehabilitation and also favored every revolution against France in North Africa; it has built the alliance between Turkey and Greece, and it has also been sympathetic toward the aspirations of Cyprus which can only lead to a war between Turkey and Greece.

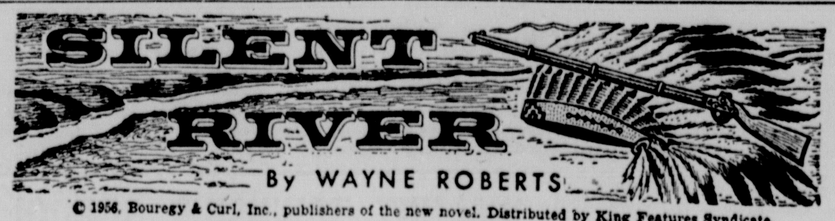

Having done more than any other country to establish Israel as a separate state, it prevented Israel from rectifying its borders and has come up with a proposal for solving the Israel-Egypt situation which defies analysis and understanding. Having encouraged the separatism of Pakistan, the United States has flirted wildly with Nehru, even to the extent of ignoring his imperialism in Kashmir.

These confusions of policy in one area of the Earth's surface have covered three Administrations, two Democratic and one Republican. It can be taken, from its persistence, as characteristic of policy-making. But one can go much further back to show how characteristic this confusion is. The United States has fought two wars, at great cost in life and wealth, to save Great Britain. It has financed, out of its taxation, Britain's economic recovery, making up its deficits to the tune of tens of billions of dolars.

However, at the same time, going back to when Woodrow Wilson was President, it has been American policy to support independence in India and it can be said that the Gandhi movement would never have achieved its strength were it not for American support. Ultimately, India became a sovereign country to the great damage of the British Empire.

CHAPTER 36

AT CHAD'S command his men dropped into a prone position. Turning, Chad waved his arm at the gunners, who had stayed behind. In a moment shot was flying overhead, plopping down into the writhing mass of Sioux.

The decks of the Red Nymph had been cleared of Indians. Fire poured from rifles and deck guns. All of Cut Lip's braves were mounted, and Chad thought they were going to break and run. Their position on the bank was untenable, caught in the open between the two bodies of whites. And they did run, but not as Chad had expected.

The Indians drove in a wild rush directly at the soldiers, fifty or more abreast and close together. It was an avalanche of men and horses, and the steady fire of the soldiers did not stop them. Painted braves spilled off their ponies in a swirl of bright feathers, but they closed ranks and came on, their war cries harsh with the threat of death.

For a terrible moment Chad wondered if his men would break. His gunners behind him could not fire now. The Indians were too close. There would be no help from the men on the boat, either.

Saunders cried out as an arrow caught him in the thigh. Tolliver swore when a bullet tagged him in the shoulder.

The forty-odd men lacked the firing power to break a charge like this. It was load and fire, load and fire; and Chad, thumbing shells into the cylinder of his revolver, felt the warm glow of admiration for his men. His men! Heroes, every son of them, whether they lived or died this day.

A big Indian was in front, war bonnet twisted by the wind. Zack swore an oath. "It's Cut Lip! Cut him down."

Then they were there, like a great ocean wave breaking against a shore. Chad emptied his gun, knocking two braves off their ponies. Cut Lip jabbed at him with his spear, and missed. No time to reload. On the door of the library of this exemplary establishment, a sign proclaims: "Maggie Higgins slept here." And on the shower, ("so welcome," notes Michener, "after Korean dust") is the warning, "BE-WARE! SCOLDING WATAR!"

A beautiful, special-model convertible drove smoothly by, and a Texan who had observed it exclaimed sharply "Did you see the man kissing a girl in the back seat? Confound it, she's my wife!"

"How can you be sure?" asked his friend. "How?" echoed the angry Texan. "I guess I can recognize her Caddy when I see it!"

What Is Man At Age 45?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When a man isn't 45 years old, he leaves an area of doubt. Life is now settling this area for me.

Today, I am a year older. Do I feel 99 years old? Do I feel like 19 years old, when I went in for collegiate wrestling (middleweight champ, night hours, coeducational) or do I feel like two years old when I still insisted on autographing diapers?

The thing I am sure of is that I don't feel like 45, which I won't be.

Who am I? Where did I come from? Where do I want to go?

When I was a child I looked into a mirror and asked myself these questions. There was none to give me answer. Now again, after the trouble of many years of living, I ask the same question. The answer is the same.

I walk the walls of this world, as every man must, and I see no security except the courage to walk and defend these walls.

What does a man learn while walking when he isn't 45?

He has seen so many topple from the wall of this world from pride, envy, malice and hate that he knows that for these reasons they no longer walk.

But in his walk along the wall he also misses many he met along the way (from kindergarten to Korea and beyond) whom he treasured and who had every ability except how to escape death. Some didn't try. Some did. In any case frost changed and held them.

When a man isn't 45 years old, where is he?

Time, the merlin of the heart, stern calendar of the blood, measures an anxious vein, casts a forward shadow on the splendid tapestry of life's wonder, performance and desire.

Since I was a child life was always a thing of awe to me and in my mind there was always an interior clock.

The clock didn't give me a particular message. I was just aware of it. As the people I knew rose and disappeared after their fun in the sun or their defeat in the dark, I had the feeling that time was going by, too, and sometimes wondered whether I would join them in sunlight or shadow.

But I never had much of a sense, really, of either going or staying after I grew up. I suppose I felt I would probably be around a little longer.

When a man isn't 45 years old he naturally wonders (since the law doesn't guarantee he won't be 55 or 105) who will walk the walls of this world if he should no longer walk them, as in time he won't.

Will they be his kin? Will they stand upright? If they are strangers, will they walk taller?

These are merely a few of the thoughts of a man who has spent most of his life not being 45.

Little Steel Town Ponders 'Soft' Business

West Virginia Folk Wonder About Battle To Keep Metals Mill

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. (AP)—This city of 4,8000, only two years ago the scene of a dramatic fight by residents and others to save the Follansbee steel mill from being sold for junk, again is in the news, this time as an example of the "softening" in steel business.

Reports have varied from hopelessness to optimism. A few persons have expressed doubt that the fight to save the mill, which resulted in its purchase and operation by Louis Berkman and Cyrus W. Eaton, was worth the effort. Others think a bird in hand, in this instance a going factory, is worth more than a factory site.

How do the folks in Follansbee feel? Well, there's Delmar Jenkins, city manager for many years. He says gross sales tax reports show business is better than it was a year ago.

Herman Rogerson, young city solicitor, says "We had the best year in our history in 1956, even with the slowing in steel here which started in October. The mill still is operating and is in better shape than two years ago."

Merle Gaudio, member of City Council and chairman of the mill grievance committee, is not so cheerful.

* * *

"THINGS DON'T look so good, and we wonder if they intend to keep the mill," he says. But he noted he worked four days last week and is scheduled for four more this week.

Frank Basil, former mayor, now tax assessor, and his wife who handles income tax returns for many Follansbee residents are among the optimists. "If we're hurting, it doesn't show in the income tax reports," Mrs. Basil says.

Dewey Olson, plant manager of the Follansbee mill, points to unfinished steel coils, ready for processing, piled all over the plant.

There is about $5 million worth at current steel prices and more being shipped in. He showed machinery in good condition, buildings in excellent shape.

Berkman cites payrolls for 1955 totalling $3,818,000 and for 1956 adding to $4,266,000.

"Since the mill was being sold for junk, this $8 million payroll in two years certainly couldn't have hurt the community," he observes.

Employes in the mill and the specialty plant adjoining it number nearly 80. Early in February approximately 150 men were laid off with no definite date for coming back.

But company records show that less than 50 per cent of the total working force lives in Follansbee.

* * *

THE OTHERS live in Steubenville, Ohio, Wellsburg, W. Va., and surrounding communities. This probably is one reason why Follansbee does not show much effect from the slow period at the mill. Many Follansbee residents work in other plants in Weirton, W. Va., Steubenville and elsewhere.

Mrs. Basil cites another factor in the local situation: "We're steel people here, and steel people expect to have good and slow periods. We just save for the slow times as part of our living expenses."

Disc Jockey Sleeps

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP)—Disc Jockey Ray Starr, claiming a new record in continuous broadcasting, fell fast asleep at the mike Wednesday after 166¾ hours. He raised $2,300 for the city school lunch program.

Fingerprinting as a method of identification has been in use in the Far East since early history.

2 Circus Lions In Attendance At Wedding Service

To be exact, the lions, Leo and Nosey, were in a cage at the Al Sirat Grotto Shrine Circus with the wedding party. Some 6,000 spectators watched from outside as the Rev. Walter Klein married Keller and blonde Ginny Lowry.

Cautioned by ushers "not to make any sudden moves," the wedding party was noticeably uneasy. Only the bridegroom who owns and trained the lions, appeared at ease.

You Can Buy Liner Andrea Doria Now

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—You can buy the luxury liner Andrea Doria, as is, if you want to gamble on raising her.

Russell Adams, an official of Gorham Mfg. Co., says he has located a person, whom he declined to identify, who says he could raise the sunken liner by "internal flotation." The Andrea Doria sank off Nantucket last July with a loss of 50 lives after a collision with the liner Stockholm.

Adams said he had received a letter from Italy that the insurers of the liner have given up any idea of trying to raise the ship.

Ohio Disability Insurance Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Sen. Ed Witmer (D-Stark) has drafted a bill to provide temporary disability insurance payments in Ohio.

He said railroad workers receive such coverage under the railroad retirement act, but that other employes are unprotected.

Witmer explained that an injured worker can draw workmen's compensation and a jobless employe can get unemployment compensation. "But there is no protection for a worker who is off the job because of illness or a non-industrial accident," he said.

Farewell Address To Be Read Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Broomfield (R-Mich) will read George Washington's farewell address to the House Friday.

The honor is alternated between Republicans and Democrats.

It was previously announced that Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) will read the address in the Senate.

Lausche, Bricker Disagree On Need Of New Judgeships

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Lausche (D-Ohio) disagree on the need for three new federal judgeships in Ohio.

Both senators testified before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that is considering legislation to give the state two new judges in the northern district and one more in the southern district.

Bricker said he was unqualifiedly for that proposal, as did many bar associations in Ohio.

But Lausche would not go this far. He said "there is a definite need for at least one additional judge for northern Ohio" but that he is not prepared to say now that "two are needed."

As for the southern district, Lausche said information he has received shows there is "grave doubt" that it needs one more.

Earlier, spokesmen for thousands of Ohio lawyers asked Congress to authorize three more judgeships for the Buckeye State.

The request was made by bar associations in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Youngstown and the Ohio Bar Assn. in statements prepared for a Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Johnston (D-SC).

Johnston's group opened hearings today on his bill to create new federal judgeships throughout the country. For Ohio, his legislation would add two judges in the northern district and one in the southern district.

The Ohio bar groups expressed their views in letters sent to Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Lausche (D-Ohio) for submission to the subcommittee.

Aside from a general problem of overloaded federal district court dockets in Ohio, some of the letters mentioned in particular a new court room in Youngstown that is being used only part of the time.

"We feel," said Russell G. Mock, chairman of the Mahoning County Bar Assn.'s courts committee, "We are entitled to have sessions of the federal court held in Youngstown where we have a beautiful court room available for that purpose."

What is needed, Mock's association said, is a fulltime judge in Youngstown to handle, not only cases there, but litigation from Warren, East Liverpool, Struthers, Lowellville, Hubbard and Niles.

The problem in the southern district was pointed out by Federal Judge Lester E. Cecil of Dayton.

Judge Cecil said he spends, normally, two months a year in Columbus and two weeks a year in Cincinnati. He continued:

"Due to the pressure of the business here in Dayton, I was not able to go to Columbus last fall. If I meet my schedules of trials and bring my docket fairly well up to date here in Dayton, I will not be able to go to Columbus this spring.

"After four years, I am just bringing my docket to the point where I can try civil cases within a year from date of filing . . . I would say that an additional judge is needed in the southern district of Ohio."

Cadillac

International Synonym for "Achievement"!

Mention the name "Cadillac" wherever you will—and in whatever part of the civilized world you might be—and you will find a common meeting-ground of understanding.

It is, in brief, a world-wide synonym for personal achievement!

And this is, we think, entirely logical. For over the years, the Cadillac car has played a vital role in the lives of so many of the leading citizens of every community where motor cars are seen.

* * *

This, of course, is not to say that a motorist need necessarily possess an abundance of this world's goods in order to enjoy the great and unduplicated satisfactions of Cadillac ownership.

Consider, for instance, the economy of buying a Cadillac. Several models are actually priced competitively with much smaller, lighter cars.

Consider the practical aspects of driving a Cadillac. The car is remarkably economical from a standpoint of both maintenance and operation.

And lastly, think of the wisdom of owning a Cadillac. Year after year, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car in the land.

In other words, wisdom and practicality can lead you to the "car of cars" just as surely as prominence and prosperity.

We suggest that you come in soon—that you spend an hour at the wheel—and that you delay no longer in making the magic move to Cadillac.

We'll be looking for you—soon.

Little Steel Town Ponders 'Soft' Business

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. (AP)—This city of 4,8000, only two years ago the scene of a dramatic fight by residents and others to save the Follansbee steel mill from being sold for junk, again is in the news, this time as an example of the "softening" in steel business.

Reports have varied from hopelessness to optimism. A few persons have expressed doubt that the fight to save the mill, which resulted in its purchase and operation by Louis Berkman and Cyrus W. Eaton, was worth the effort. Others think a bird in hand, in this instance a going factory, is worth more than a factory site.

How do the folks in Follansbee feel? Well, there's Delmar Jenkins, city manager for many years. He says gross sales tax reports show business is better than it was a year ago.

Herman Rogerson, young city solicitor, says "We had the best year in our history in 1956, even with the slowing in steel here which started in October. The mill still is operating and is in better shape than two years ago."

Merle Gaudio, member of City Council and chairman of the mill grievance committee, is not so cheerful.

* * *

"THINGS DON'T look so good, and we wonder if they intend to keep the mill," he says. But he noted he worked four days last week and is scheduled for four more this week.

Frank Basil, former mayor, now tax assessor, and his wife who handles income tax returns for many Follansbee residents are among the optimists. "If we're hurting, it doesn't show in the income tax reports," Mrs. Basil says.

Dewey Olson, plant manager of the Follansbee mill, points to unfinished steel coils, ready for processing, piled all over the plant.

There is about $5 million worth at current steel prices and more being shipped in. He showed machinery in good condition, buildings in excellent shape.

Berkman cites payrolls for 1955 totalling $3,818,000 and for 1956 adding to $4,266,000.

"Since the mill was being sold for junk, this $8 million payroll in two years certainly couldn't have hurt the community," he observes.

Employes in the mill and the specialty plant adjoining it number nearly 80. Early in February approximately 150 men were laid off with no definite date for coming back.

But company records show that less than 50 per cent of the total working force lives in Follansbee.

* * *

THE OTHERS live in Steubenville, Ohio, Wellsburg, W. Va., and surrounding communities. This probably is one reason why Follansbee does not show much effect from the slow period at the mill. Many Follansbee residents work in other plants in Weirton, W. Va., Steubenville and elsewhere.

Mrs. Basil cites another factor in the local situation: "We're steel people here, and steel people expect to have good and slow periods. We just save for the slow times as part of our living expenses."

To be exact, the lions, Leo and Nosey, were in a cage at the Al Sirat Grotto Shrine Circus with the wedding party. Some 6,000 spectators watched from outside as the Rev. Walter Klein married Keller and blonde Ginny Lowry.

Cautioned by ushers "not to make any sudden moves," the wedding party was noticeably uneasy. Only the bridegroom who owns and trained the lions, appeared at ease.

You Can Buy Liner Andrea Doria Now

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—You can buy the luxury liner Andrea Doria, as is, if you want to gamble on raising her.

Russell Adams, an official of Gorham Mfg. Co., says he has located a person, whom he declined to identify, who says he could raise the sunken liner by "internal flotation." The Andrea Doria sank off Nantucket last July with a loss of 50 lives after a collision with the liner Stockholm.

Adams said he had received a letter from Italy that the insurers of the liner have given up any idea of trying to raise the ship.

Ohio Disability Insurance Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Sen. Ed Witmer (D-Stark) has drafted a bill to provide temporary disability insurance payments in Ohio.

He said railroad workers receive such coverage under the railroad retirement act, but that other employes are unprotected.

Witmer explained that an injured worker can draw workmen's compensation and a jobless employe can get unemployment compensation. "But there is no protection for a worker who is off the job because of illness or a non-industrial accident," he said.

Farewell Address To Be Read Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Broomfield (R-Mich) will read George Washington's farewell address to the House Friday.

The honor is alternated between Republicans and Democrats.

It was previously announced that Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) will read the address in the Senate.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been in love almost a year and a half. Tom and I were going steady and even talked of marriage—but he had to go overseas, and was gone a year. Meantime I graduated from college and took a job 600 miles from home—as Tom had said I would never become independent or self-reliant as long as I stayed home.

While Tom was overseas, he wrote me about books he thought I should read, and always seemed to have culture in mind.

Once he wrote that "the average woman doesn't do much for the world. All she wants is a man, and then doesn't know how to hold him. She creates economic problems, and has too many problems, and causes more problems, a pretty worthless creature, the average woman." I was shocked to read that. He doesn't say I am like that—but the fact is, I do hope to marry and have a home and children.

On Tom's return from overseas, he spent two weeks here (in the town where I work); and now he wants me to fly to his parents' home, for a weekend visit when he will be there. (He's still in the Army). He says he loves me, but we must be sure before we think about marriage.

When Tom went overseas, he told me to date other boys in his absence. Before, he was trying always to make me over. Mother says if he really loved me he wouldn't want me to date other boys; nor would he try to make me over.

What do you think of his ideas of women? Was he just running short of something to say?

H. P.

DEAR H. P.: Tom doesn't make sense. For example, his comment that "woman creates economic problems, and has too many problems, and causes more problems," etc., is pure gibberish, if he doesn't support the argument with data to prove his point.

He was writing from overseas, I take it; and, judging by the misty anger of his composition, he'd probably had too many drinks at the time. Moreover, I think he was giving you a hearsay version of somebody else's rant against women.

Possibly he was echoing a "foreign" concept of American womanhood, which isn't flattering, all too often; and which is based on lack of knowledge, misinformation and jealous prejudice, in parge part.

Also perhaps he was excusing himself (to himself) unconsciously, for having been so downbeat with you: in taking up your time for 18 months, picking flaws in your personality, and finally leaving you (in love with him) with the noncommittal suggestion to "date other boys."

Having treated you so shabbily, he probably feels impelled to dislike all women, defensively—as if putting them in wrong somehow justifies his shoddiness.

Tom says the average woman doesn't do much for the world. But woman produces the human race; so where would man be without her? Tom says all she wants is a man. Well, yes, that is a primary want; a reciprocal urge, between male and female, created by God; so why "blame" woman for it? Tom says woman can't hold her man. But after all why should woman hold a man? Why isn't he man enough to stay loyal, once he has made a choice?

From my view, it's unfortunate that you are smitten with Tom, because as I get his character-bias, he is a confused, unstable, disagreeable fellow—not qualified to be a good husband. However, you may as well viist his parents' home—to learn what you can from the experience.

Chamber Sees No Shortage Of Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce claims that there is no critical national shortage of classrooms, and that it regards federal aid for school construction "unncessary."

The chamber position was presented to a House Education subcommittee by Thomas A. Ballantine of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Education.

He said in prepared testimony: "It is the consensus of business in this country that the states and their communities are responsible for, and able to finance the development of the school systems required by their citizens."

Federal help he said, "would lead inevitably to the transformation of public education from a state and local function to one increasingly directed by the federal government."

Ballantine said a report by the U. S. Office of Education states 63,000 new classrooms were built in the year ending last fall. About 49,000 of these would have taken care of the report's estimated enrollment increase of a million and its estimated figure of 14,000 for abandoned classrooms.

Newark Doctor Escapes Jail Term

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood Wednesday suspended sentence for Dr. James K. Nealon, Newark urologist convicted Dec. 21 for evasion of $14,000 in federal income taxes.

Judge Underwood placed Dr. Nealon on two years probation and sustained the $10,000 fine imposed on the physician.

Judge Underwood said the Licking County Medical Society concurred in the contention that Dr. Nealon's services "are essential to the community."

Federal help he said, "would lead inevitably to the transformation of public education from a state and local function to one increasingly directed by the federal government."

Ballantine said a report by the U. S. Office of Education states 63,000 new classrooms were built in the year ending last fall. About 49,000 of these would have taken care of the report's estimated enrollment increase of a million and its estimated figure of 14,000 for abandoned classrooms.

Newark Doctor Escapes Jail Term

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood Wednesday suspended sentence for Dr. James K. Nealon, Newark urologist convicted Dec. 21 for evasion of $14,000 in federal income taxes.

Judge Underwood placed Dr. Nealon on two years probation and sustained the $10,000 fine imposed on the physician.

Judge Underwood said the Licking County Medical Society concurred in the contention that Dr. Nealon's services "are essential to the community."

Let's All Go Shopping for cereals. The importance of this type of food is often overlooked because they are always plentiful, easily stored, and usually are in the category of a "good buy".

In a balanced diet, cereals and bread furnish about 29 per cent of the daily food calories and 30 per cent of the protein. Almost half of the wheat, a little less than a third of the barley, about one-fourth of the rice, and a little less than one-tenth of the corn grown in the United States is used for human consumption in this country.

Cereals, mainstay of Junior's breakfast when he is in the box top collecting stage, return to farmers about one-fifth of the retail price. Four-fifths of the price paid at the supermarket for flakes, puffs, shreds, or whatever your favorite kind of cereal may be, represents the cost of manufacturing, packaging, transporting and selling this basic food.

Even though the younger members of the family may insist on a "favorite" because of something about the top or sides of the box—or that inedible item that may be within—it is far more important to know what is inside the box in the way of nourishment.

Cereals are one of the "basic seven foods," which nutritionists say we should eat each day. Few foods offer greater variety than does the cereal family. We have barley, corn, oats, rice and wheat cereals as well as combinations of these grains. There are uncooked, partially cooked, ready-to-eat, whole grain, restored and enriched cereals. And, we have flakes, shreds, puffs, kernels and many other forms.

* * *

According to Chester Swank, extension food marketing specialist at The Ohio State University, these cereals, for breakfast or other meals, are the low cost-per-serving food.

Quite naturally, the ready-to-eat kind cost more per serving than cereals requiring cooking, and the small packages more per serving than the large sizes.

The cost per serving may be calculated by dividing the price of a package of cereal by the number of ounces in the package and adding two and one-half to three cents for milk and sugar. The average serving of a cereal is one ounce.

Cereal manufacturers are required to label their products in one of three classes: "Whole grain cereals" contain all the nutrients of the grain from which they are milled, including the bran, germ and starchy part of the kernel. "Restored cereals" have added thiamine, niacin and iron which were removed from the whole grain in the milling. "Enriched cereals" contain more vitamins and-or minerals than the grains from which they are made.

So, read the label on the package! It is the window through which one can see, in detail, just what is on the inside.

* * *

You might like to shop for the ingredients to make this Southern Cereal preparation, "Baked Hominy" as recommended by Mrs. William Heard. The ingredients are: two cups cooked hominy grits, two eggs, two-third cup milk, one-third stick of butter or margarine.

The method of preparation: Beat the butter into hot hominy (if using cold hominy, melt butter before adding). Beat eggs until light, add milk to eggs, then stir this mixture into hominy. Put in oven dish and set in pan of water.

Bake in moderate oven for about an hour. (A little more butter and another egg may be added for extra richness.)

As Mrs. Heard's cook book states, "Hominy has long been a favorite in the Carolina Low-Country. This corn preparation, boiled with water and salt was served in almost every household for breakfast, not as a cereal with sugar and cream, but mixed with butter and eaten with a relish such as bacon, eggs or fish cakes."

Left-overs were anticipated so as to make Baked Hominy a special feature later the same day or, the next day.

Psychiatrist Says 4 Of 10 GIs Yield To Brainwashing

NEW YORK (AP) — An Army neuro-psychiatrist says that four out of 10 Americans in Korean prisoner of war camps yielded to brainwashing techniques.

Maj. William E. Meyer told a convention of the American Paper and Pulp Assn. that the POWs "died psychologically" under the effects of shrewd and subtle influences that seldom involved torture.

Meyer, a psychiatrist with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, said weak-willed prisoners succumbed to the brainwashing within 48 hours after it began.

He said the brainwashing was designed for the physical control of prisoners and to make them distrust each other—but did not seek to make Communists of the captives. He added that fewer than one per cent of the Americans were subjected to torture.

Colorado Refuses 'Thanks' To Ike

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Senate refused Wednesday to thank President Eisenhower for visiting Colorado on his drought inspection trip last month.

The Senate turned down, 18-16, a House-approved resolution expressing thanks to the chief executive. Both branches of the legislature have Democratic majorities.

Eisenhower stopped at Pueblo more than an hour Jan. 15 and took a first hand look at a dust-damaged farm area southeast of the city.

Coal Chieftain Sees No Big '57 Strikes

CLEVELAND (AP)—What is the prospect for peaceful relations between labor and management in this country in 1957?

Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., predicts that "the country will get through 1957 without a major strike."

His forecast was made in a talk at a meeting of the Cleveland Engineering Society's fuel division.

Fox, head of the industry group which bargains with the United Mine Workers Union, said last year was "one of the quietest years in postwar labor relations" and the prospects for 1957 are "even better."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turkeys, once associated almost exclusively with Thanksgiving and Christmas, are tied in with another holiday this week as many stores feature them in connection with Washington's birthday.

The theory is that housewives will want a meat dish that will be good for several meals with a three-day, holiday weekend starting Friday for some people.

In addition, gobblers are plentiful this year, which helps to make them less expensive. One chain is charging only 39 cents a pound for 8 to 22 pound birds, a drop of 8 cents from the Thanksgiving-Christmas prices.

Smoked hams also will be a big item in many supermarkets.

Beef, which has headed the bargain list in many stores for several weeks, is represented again this week in some areas. Legs of lamb and assorted cuts of pork are specials in others.

Frying chickens are from two to four cents cheaper in many areas this week, along with eggs.

Paul S. Willis, president of the grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., said overall food prices now are about 3 per cent below their peak of 1952, even though the overall cost-of-living index has been climbing.

Best bets among vegetables this week are cabbage, carrots, parsnips, and cut beets in areas where these root crops are available from nearby fields. In addition, bunched carrots from Southern and Western growing areas are coming into markets now at extremely attractive prices.

Potatoes from last fall's Long Island and Maine crops are still rated as good buys, along with onions from Eastern fields. Idaho potatoes, a prime favorite for baking, also are in the good buy class. Others are sweet potatoes, iceberg lettuce, kale, collards, escarole, chicory and new cabbage from Florida, California and Texas.

No Danger Seen

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Army says that the danger of accidents which might set off atomic warheads stored at Nike installations is "virtually non-existent."

Ohio Idle Claims Showing Decline

COLUMBUS (AP)—Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation showed decreases for the week ended Feb. 16, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports.

New claims for the period totaled 10,421, compared with 10,608 the previous week, and continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more totaled 71,621, compared with 72,251 for the week ended Feb. 9. The average weekly new claims in February last year was 11,195, and continuing claims for that same period averaged 61,160.

Ex-Liquor Chief's Pay Rate Studied

COLUMBUS (AP) — State Auditor James A. Rhodes has asked the attorney general whether he could pay the former state liquor director at the rate of $18,000 a year between last Jan. 15 and 24.

Liquor Director William C. Bryant resigned Jan. 24 to become an appellate court judge. He applied for salary payment at the $18,000 annual rate under an administration salary increase law that became effective Jan. 15.

Bryant's regular salary was $12,000 a year.

The Legislature increased salaries of top appointive state officials at the request of incoming Gov. C. William O'Neill, a Republican. Bryant is a Democrat.

Broncos Down Pirates; Tigers Stop Buffaloes

the score when he recovered a rebound underneath his own basket. The lead changed hands several times until the Broncos pulled a 19-16 first frame margin. The Hoover brothers combined talents for 14 of Ashville's 19 points in this period.

* * *

ASHVILLE changed a shifting man-to-man defense to a full court press early in the second period with apparent success as Pickaway suddenly turned cold.

The Broncos appeared to have things wrapped up as they soared to a 20 point advantage soon after the second half opened.

However, the Pirates failed to crack under the pressure and displayed a cool steady brand of ball to remain within reaching distance as the quarter ended.

Pickaway cagers kept plugging away, even after Ashville had moved to a 14 point lead late in the final frame. They continued their efforts until the final buzzer sounded.

Dick Hoover was top scorer for the Broncos as he played an important part in the team victory by caging 28 points. Playmaker Larry Fullen was next with 16, followed by Freshman Bob Hoover with 12.

* * *

WALNUT started out like they meant business, ringing up a 12-0 lead after the first four minutes of play. The Tigers duplicated this feat in the final period when they again held the Buffaloes scoreless for four minutes.

At halftime, with the score standing at 39 to 30 in favor of Walnut, Scioto fans felt assured that the Buffaloes would make a comeback for an all-important victory. However, the Tigers had different plans and they proved it in the final half.

Scioto's cagers, apparently under pressure after their narrow victory over Saltcreek Monday night, just could not muster enough strength to stop the Tigers' onslaught in the last two quarters.

A vital cog in Walnut's attack was the performance of Danny Slone who whipped in 30 points for the winners. His scoring deeds came on 11 field goals and eight free throws.

Walnut grabbed its 12-0 lead on three buckets by Slone, a two-pointer and two foul shots by Bill Smith and two free tosses by Woody Harbor. Dale Boone put Scioto in the scoring column with a side shot and two foul throws. The Buffaloes Delbert Neff made it 12 to 6 on a bucket from underneath.

The Tigers maintained their scoring spree for the remainder of the quarter to hold a 21-16 lead as the buzzer sounded. Neff narrowed this margin to 21-18 by sinking another bunny from under the basket shortly after the second stanza started.

* * *

A FEW minutes later the Tigers increased their lead, 29 to 20, when Smith added a basket and two charity throws along with a goal by Lindell Bell and two foul shots by Edwards.

Scioto stayed within range during the second quarter as Neff connected on five baskets, all from close in. At intermission, the Tigers were still out in front by nine points, 39 to 30.

In the third period, Slone zeroed in on the hoop to drop in four baskets and three foul shots which helped Walnut mount a 62 to 50 lead as the quarter ended.

Jim Stoer kept Scioto's hopes alive with 10 points for the period. Roger Knapp gave him some assistance by sinking three long ones.

Scioto's efforts suffered a jolt shortly after the final stanza got underway when big Delbert Neff committed his fifth personal foul. From that point on the Tigers rolled to a lead that put them out of reach.

The winners' biggest margin came about midway in the quarter when they went out in front, 75 to 50. Again it was Slone leading the way with seven markers on a bucket and five free throws. Scioto's Clark made a valiant effort to keep his mates in the running by scoring two baskets and two foul tosses but his performance was not enough to overcome the damage already done.

* * *

SLONE'S 30 points was high for the evening. He was given some valuable assistance by Smith who had 15, and Harbor and Bell with 10 each.

Stoer paced Scioto with 18 markers. Neff collected 14, Knapp posted 11 and Clark had 10.

Last night's crowd was the largest of the tournament with each team being well-represented by loyal fans. Friday night's final games are expected to attract an even bigger turnout.

Frank Merriwell Finishes Now Common In Basketball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take Wednesday night for instance. With the score tied at 65-65, Greg Britz tossed in a 35-foot set shot to give Canisius a 67-65 victory over Syracuse.

Both teams are on the prospect list for the National Invitation Tournament March 16 at Madison Square Garden. Those points by Britz might mean the difference.

Six teams have been chosen. Six berths are still vacant. In the fold are Manhattan, Seattle, Dayton, Cincinnati, Memphis State and St. Bonaventure. Prospective are Duquesne, Temple, Seton Hall, St. Peter's (N.J.), St. John's (Brooklyn), St. Joseph's (Pa.), and Lafayette, in addition to Canisius and Syracuse.

Among the chosen, St. Bonaventure fared well Wednesday night, beating LeMoyne (N.Y.) 69-61, but Dayton fell before Xavier of Ohio 68-65. Among the hopeful, St. Joseph's won a "must" game from Penn 79-71, and Lafayette whipped Lehigh 73-60.

Conference action was on the minor side, but Yale strengthened its grip on first place in the Ivy League by downing Columbia 72-57.

The Elis held Columbia's Chet Forte to 24 points. That dropped Forte to third place in the scoring derby behind Grady Wallace of South Carolina and Joe Gibbon of Mississippi, who have averages of 30.41 and 29.33. Forte fell to 29.26.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas Christian rallied from a 20-point deficit for an 82-77 overtime triumph over Baylor to take over third place with a 5-5 record.

Virginia Military was eliminated from a Southern Conference tournament spot when Richmond toppled the Keydets 76-68.

Wake Forest, 12th-ranked in the Associated Press weekly poll, put on its best offensive display of the season in whaling Eastern Kentucky 101-76. And Louisville, No. 7, romped over Murray (Ky.) State 97-82.

Calhoun Due To Be Foe For Ohio's Cotton

DENVER (AP) — Middleweights Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., and Charley Cotton of Toledo are expected here Friday to set the stage for a 10-round bout which may seem anti-climactic to local fight fans.

He originally was scheduled to meet 160-pound champion Gene Fullmer in the Wednesday night attraction, which will be nationally televised at 10 p. m. EST.

But the West Jordan, Utah, titlist bowed out when it was learned he suffered a cut over his left eye in winning a 10-round non-title event from Ernie Durando Monday night.

Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., was named to replace Fullmer on the card, but he begged off because of a leg injury.

Calhoun, one of the most promising youngsters in the middleweight division, accepted less than 24 hours after a fifth round knockout win Tuesday night over Leroy Oliphant. He'll take on Cotton with only a week of rest.

Tigers Travel To Logan For Last Cage Test

Circleville's cage Tigers travel to Logan tonight for their last game of the regular season.

A win for the CHS courtmen will put them on the winning side of the ledger for the year. At present their record stands at eight wins and eight losses.

Five of the Tigers' eight wins were in South Central League play, good enough to give them at least a three-way share of the loop along with Hillsboro and Wilmington. If Washington C. H. wins Friday night over Greenfield, the circuit will end in a four-way deadlock.

The contest is being played tonight in that most high schools will close tomorrow for Washington's Birthday.

* * *

Oklahoma City won only two of its 14 extra inning games in the Texas League during 1956.

Alvin Dark Tops Baseball Golfers

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (AP)—Alvin Dark, St. Louis Cardinals shortstop, undoubtedly could earn a living as a golf pro if he cared to.

He won the second annual Calvacade of Champions tournament Wednesday with a 54-hole total of 218. His score by rounds was 71-73-74.

He also won a putting contest and a "nearest to the pin" shot. Dark had captured the baseball players golf tournament at Miami earlier in the week.

'Stilt' Shooting For Point Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas needs 56 points against the defensive minded Oklahoma Aggies tonight if he wants to reclaim first place in the national collegiate individual basketball scoring race.

The Stilt goes into tonight's game in fifth place with a 29-point average on 522 points in 18 games. South Carolina's Grady Wallace is setting the pace with a 30.41 average on 699 points in 22 outings.

Columbia's Chet Forte, the only one of the leaders in action Wednesday night, dropped to third place when Yale checked him with 24 points. Joe Gibbon of Mississippi took over the runnerup spot. Seattle's Elgin Baylor is fourth.

Centralia, Unioto Advance To Fina'ls

Centralia and Unioto advanced to the finals in Ross County's basketball tournament by posting wins over Clarksburg and Huntington last night in the Circleville High school gym.

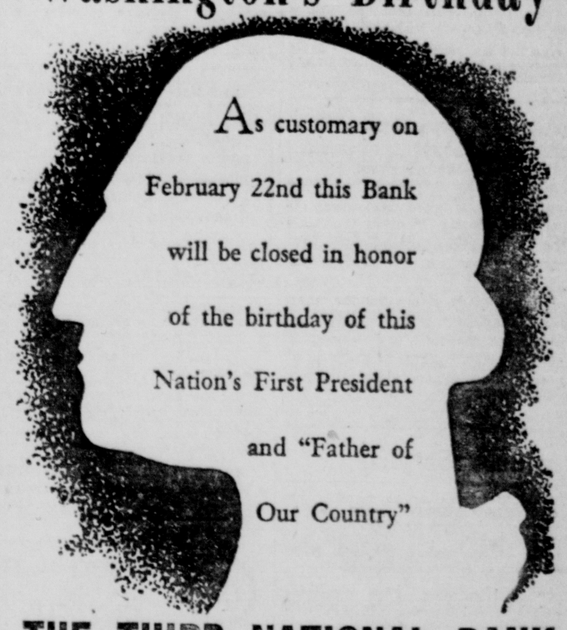

By virtue of their wins last night, the two teams will clash Friday at 8:30 p. m. for the county title. Clarksburg and Huntington will battle it out for consolation honors at 7:30 p. m.

Broncos Down Pirates; Tigers Stop Buffaloes

the score when he recovered a rebound underneath his own basket. The lead changed hands several times until the Broncos pulled a 19-16 first frame margin. The Hoover brothers combined talents for 14 of Ashville's 19 points in this period.

* * *

ASHVILLE changed a shifting man-to-man defense to a full court press early in the second period with apparent success as Pickaway suddenly turned cold.

The Broncos appeared to have things wrapped up as they soared to a 20 point advantage soon after the second half opened.

However, the Pirates failed to crack under the pressure and displayed a cool steady brand of ball to remain within reaching distance as the quarter ended.

Pickaway cagers kept plugging away, even after Ashville had moved to a 14 point lead late in the final frame. They continued their efforts until the final buzzer sounded.

Dick Hoover was top scorer for the Broncos as he played an important part in the team victory by caging 28 points. Playmaker Larry Fullen was next with 16, followed by Freshman Bob Hoover with 12.

* * *

WALNUT started out like they meant business, ringing up a 12-0 lead after the first four minutes of play. The Tigers duplicated this feat in the final period when they again held the Buffaloes scoreless for four minutes.

At halftime, with the score standing at 39 to 30 in favor of Walnut, Scioto fans felt assured that the Buffaloes would make a comeback for an all-important victory. However, the Tigers had different plans and they proved it in the final half.

Scioto's cagers, apparently under pressure after their narrow victory over Saltcreek Monday night, just could not muster enough strength to stop the Tigers' onslaught in the last two quarters.

A vital cog in Walnut's attack was the performance of Danny Slone who whipped in 30 points for the winners. His scoring deeds came on 11 field goals and eight free throws.

Walnut grabbed its 12-0 lead on three buckets by Slone, a two-pointer and two foul shots by Bill Smith and two free tosses by Woody Harbor. Dale Boone put Scioto in the scoring column with a side shot and two foul throws. The Buffaloes Delbert Neff made it 12 to 6 on a bucket from underneath.

The Tigers maintained their scoring spree for the remainder of the quarter to hold a 21-16 lead as the buzzer sounded. Neff narrowed this margin to 21-18 by sinking another bunny from under the basket shortly after the second stanza started.

* * *

A FEW minutes later the Tigers increased their lead, 29 to 20, when Smith added a basket and two charity throws along with a goal by Lindell Bell and two foul shots by Edwards.

Scioto stayed within range during the second quarter as Neff connected on five baskets, all from close in. At intermission, the Tigers were still out in front by nine points, 39 to 30.

In the third period, Slone zeroed in on the hoop to drop in four baskets and three foul shots which helped Walnut mount a 62 to 50 lead as the quarter ended.

Jim Stoer kept Scioto's hopes alive with 10 points for the period. Roger Knapp gave him some assistance by sinking three long ones.

Scioto's efforts suffered a jolt shortly after the final stanza got underway when big Delbert Neff committed his fifth personal foul. From that point on the Tigers rolled to a lead that put them out of reach.

The winners' biggest margin came about midway in the quarter when they went out in front, 75 to 50. Again it was Slone leading the way with seven markers on a bucket and five free throws. Sokolsky's These Days

The United States has since encouraged Nehru in every way possible to build an Afro-Asian alliance which to date has served Red China but never the United States or Great Britain.

The final nail in the coffin of British imperialism was the seizure of the Suez Canal by Nasser which the United States woggled over with such unworkable devices as the Users' Association, ending in the catastrophic attempt of Great Britain, France and Israel to counter Russian intrigue in Arabic countries by eliminating Nasser.

This effort could have succeeded but for American intervention which has reduced Great Britain further as a power and shifted its interest from the battle against Russia to a free trade market in Europe.

The question that must arise is whether the inability of the United States to formulate policy and to maintain it is a functional failure, or a personnel inadequacy. The answer probably lies deeper. It probably lies in the basic idealism of American thinging, our incapacity to grasp the fact that the human race is not like two peas in a pod. And different kinds of men have different ideas and different ways of life.

Pastrano Wins Match Handily

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Willie Pastrano, cagey, fourth - ranked heavyweight from Miami and New Orleans, tied up Chicago's big Johnny Holman with lightning hooks and jabs Wednesday night to win a unanimous decision in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

The 6-3, 200-pound, hardhitting Holman, who has kayoed opponents for 13 of his 30 victories, just couldn't land a big one. Pastrano, 6 feet and 187¼ pounds, was in and out with telling jabs that raised a welt over Holman's left eye. The eye was closed from the eighth round on.

Sokolsky's

The United States has since encouraged Nehru in every way possible to build an Afro-Asian alliance which to date has served Red China but never the United States or Great Britain.

The final nail in the coffin of British imperialism was the seizure of the Suez Canal by Nasser which the United States woggled over with such unworkable devices as the Users' Association, ending in the catastrophic attempt of Great Britain, France and Israel to counter Russian intrigue in Arabic countries by eliminating Nasser.

This effort could have succeeded but for American intervention which has reduced Great Britain further as a power and shifted its interest from the battle against Russia to a free trade market in Europe.

The question that must arise is whether the inability of the United States to formulate policy and to maintain it is a functional failure, or a personnel inadequacy. The answer probably lies deeper. It probably lies in the basic idealism of American thinging, our incapacity to grasp the fact that the human race is not like two peas in a pod. And different kinds of men have different ideas and different ways of life.

Pastrano Wins Match Handily

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Willie Pastrano, cagey, fourth - ranked heavyweight from Miami and New Orleans, tied up Chicago's big Johnny Holman with lightning hooks and jabs Wednesday night to win a unanimous decision in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

The 6-3, 200-pound, hardhitting Holman, who has kayoed opponents for 13 of his 30 victories, just couldn't land a big one. Pastrano, 6 feet and 187¼ pounds, was in and out with telling jabs that raised a welt over Holman's left eye. The eye was closed from the eighth round on.

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and farming problems at the County up-to-date literature on their Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

With proper care and the right kind of seedbed you can grow the more common flowers from seed, says Victor H. Ries, Ohio State University extension floriculturist. Before you start, here are some things he suggests you consider:

It's difficult to grow seedlings indoors where there often isn't enough light to produce sturdy plants, it's so warm seedlings are soft and weak and the atmosphere dries out plants so quickly they require more care than most people give them.

Growing seedlings outdoors is sure to produce better results, Ries points out. For early plants, he suggests you sow seeds in a tight cold frame with a glass or glass substitute sash over the top. In Southern Ohio seeds of any hardy flowers, and particularly annual flowers, can be sown March 1, in the Columbus area March 15, and in the Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown areas around April 1. Without sash, sow seeds a month later. Usually it's better to sow seeds a little early than a month too late.

Always sow seeds in a soil substitute, rather than in the soil, Ries advises. You'll have better germination, little or no trouble with damping off disease and no weed problems.

For soil substitutes you may use equal parts of clean, sharp sand and peat moss. Use only a one-half to 1-inch layer of these materials, and put it on top of a mixture of equal parts of good soil, sand and peat.

Research workers, Extension staff and teachers in the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University will team up to throw a searchlight on the future of Ohio agriculture at the 45th annual Farm and Home Week, March 19 through 21, Dean L. L. Rummell announced.

Farm and Home Week will follow close on the open house for faculty of the Ohio State University in the new Agricultural Administration building on the west campus, on March 8.

Open house for Ohio citizens in the new Agricultural Administration building will be one feature of the Farm and Home Week program, Dean Rummell said.

* * *

The new band seeding method for legume-grass crops can help farmers get maximum returns from every dollar spent for fertilizer, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Band seeding," says the committee, "puts every seed directly above a band of fertilizer where it will be able to take advantage of the plant food as soon as germination occurs.

"Each seedling can grow and develop in an area where the soil fertility is high.

"This new method is more efficient than conventional seeding practices where many seeds fall between the rows and are wasted because the young seedlings fail to survive since they can't reach the plant nutrients."

Tests in Ohio showed that band seeded legumes made a vigorous early start in Spring and produced considerably more hay or forage than conventionally seeded fields.

The Ohio agronomists report that seeding rates can be reduced, thus cutting down costs of establishing the seeding.

Among other advantages for band seeding are: more effective weed control; greater Winter survival of the legume plants; also the fact that band seeding may help promote more complete use of soil fertility by all crops, the committee points out.

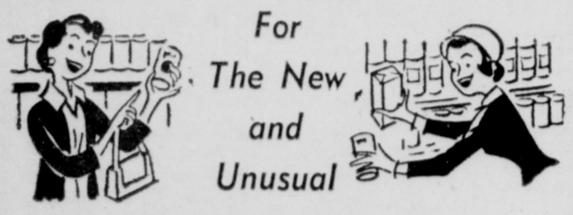

Coal Pipeline Opening Slated

CADIZ (AP)—A pipeline that will move coal from mines in eastern Ohio to a generating plant near Cleveland is expected to go into operation next week. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. hopes to save $12½ million a year in freight charges.

Coal in the form of slurry (half water and half fine-screened coal) will move from the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. near Georgetown to the Eastlake generating plant, 20 miles east of Cleveland. The 108-mile trip is expected to take 35 hours.

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and farming problems at the County up-to-date literature on their Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

With proper care and the right kind of seedbed you can grow the more common flowers from seed, says Victor H. Ries, Ohio State University extension floriculturist. Before you start, here are some things he suggests you consider:

It's difficult to grow seedlings indoors where there often isn't enough light to produce sturdy plants, it's so warm seedlings are soft and weak and the atmosphere dries out plants so quickly they require more care than most people give them.

Growing seedlings outdoors is sure to produce better results, Ries points out. For early plants, he suggests you sow seeds in a tight cold frame with a glass or glass substitute sash over the top. In Southern Ohio seeds of any hardy flowers, and particularly annual flowers, can be sown March 1, in the Columbus area March 15, and in the Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown areas around April 1. Without sash, sow seeds a month later. Usually it's better to sow seeds a little early than a month too late.

Always sow seeds in a soil substitute, rather than in the soil, Ries advises. You'll have better germination, little or no trouble with damping off disease and no weed problems.

For soil substitutes you may use equal parts of clean, sharp sand and peat moss. Use only a one-half to 1-inch layer of these materials, and put it on top of a mixture of equal parts of good soil, sand and peat.

Research workers, Extension staff and teachers in the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University will team up to throw a searchlight on the future of Ohio agriculture at the 45th annual Farm and Home Week, March 19 through 21, Dean L. L. Rummell announced.

Farm and Home Week will follow close on the open house for faculty of the Ohio State University in the new Agricultural Administration building on the west campus, on March 8.

Open house for Ohio citizens in the new Agricultural Administration building will be one feature of the Farm and Home Week program, Dean Rummell said.

The new band seeding method for legume-grass crops can help farmers get maximum returns from every dollar spent for fertilizer, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Band seeding," says the committee, "puts every seed directly above a band of fertilizer where it will be able to take advantage of the plant food as soon as germination occurs.

"Each seedling can grow and develop in an area where the soil fertility is high.

"This new method is more efficient than conventional seeding practices where many seeds fall between the rows and are wasted because the young seedlings fail to survive since they can't reach the plant nutrients."

Tests in Ohio showed that band seeded legumes made a vigorous early start in Spring and produced considerably more hay or forage than conventionally seeded fields.

The Ohio agronomists report that seeding rates can be reduced, thus cutting down costs of establishing the seeding.

Among other advantages for band seeding are: more effective weed control; greater Winter survival of the legume plants; also the fact that band seeding may help promote more complete use of soil fertility by all crops, the committee points out.

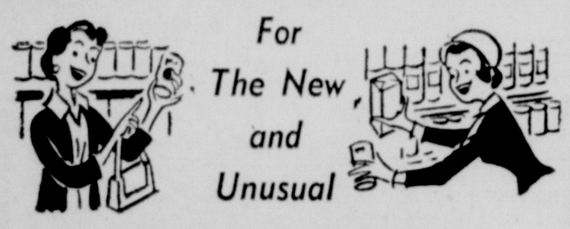

Coal Pipeline Opening Slated

CADIZ (AP)—A pipeline that will move coal from mines in eastern Ohio to a generating plant near Cleveland is expected to go into operation next week. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. hopes to save $12½ million a year in freight charges.

Coal in the form of slurry (half water and half fine-screened coal) will move from the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. near Georgetown to the Eastlake generating plant, 20 miles east of Cleveland. The 108-mile trip is expected to take 35 hours.
